Letter Tells Merchants View On State St.

47 Sign Petition To Help City On Cost Of Repaving Job

There was no immediate reaction today among city officials to the Chamber of Commerce retail merchants division's offer to bear part of the cost of re-paving downtown State Street.

Although 47 merchants and property owners signed the petition, agreeing to reimburse the city for the state's share of expense, some other merchants did not sign.

The letter, addressed to the mayor, service director and council president, was signed by Alroy Bloomberg, head of the retail merchants division. It reads as follows:

"We, the undersigned merchants and property owners, members and non members of the Salem Chamber of Commerce, have had a general meeting, and have brought out some thoughts that we believe should be of public record, and to advise you, as part of the city administration, our feelings with regard to the removal of parking on State Street and other allied traffic problems.

"It is unfortunate, in the past, and now again, the merchants have been made the whipping boy for the traffic problem, which is certainly not unique in Salem, but is a country wide problem.

"There, again, just for the record, the only time the organized merchants were against a by-pass was some twenty years ago, when everyone will admit, a traffic problem did not exist. At that time, they were against only the idea that Route 45 should be by-passed, because it was shown on a twenty four hour check that our problem was not Route 45, but Routes 14 and 62. We did not feel at that time that the expense involved would relieve the situation in any way, and since that time our predictions were borne out. Since then, the merchants have actively engaged in trying for a solution to the problem, among them, two trips to Columbus to see the governor, and many trips to New Philadelphia which is highway headquarters for this district. The only answer we could get out of these trips, "We'll see what we can do". And this has been going on for the past six years.

"There are also some recent developments that we feel should be made public. There is a strong possibility, although there is no definite confirmation, that the Highway Department shall move Route 14 over to Routes 224 and 46 as soon as the by-pass around Canfield is completed, which should be sometime this fall. This would solve our major problem, as most of the trucks use this route, and a great majority of the through passenger cars that are proceeding to the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Along with this, as soon as the bridge at Lisbon is completed, Route 30 will be moved back there, resulting in practically no truck traffic through Salem. Still more, the by-pass south of town shall be soon completed which shall take all south-bound traffic out of town. Coupled with all of these things, the Ohio Turnpike shall be completed in 1954 which means that most through state traffic shall be using that, further alleviating our problem to such an extent that we might have a nostalgia at times to see some good old traffic through Salem.

"Now, as to the removal of parking on State Street. We have tried to find a city comparable to Salem where parking has been removed but failed to do so. Apparently, Salem is being made an example for the rest of the State to follow, because we have found no other city that has received such an ultimatum, "Take parking off and we shall pave the street." However, forgetting the "selfish angle" which our solons are prone to call it, there are other arguements against such a move.

"Psychologically, an empty street is poor advertising for any city. Example, any expressway in any large city. There are no business concerns on them, and certainly

The eighth participant who was not present when the picture was taken is Eileen Jackson, soprano. The students qualified earlier in a district event.

New Soviet Peace Bids Are Awaited By UN Delegates

UNITED NATIONS, N Y., (AP)—United Nations diplomats looked today for possible new Soviet coos of peace as Poland's grab bag proposals for ending world tensions came before the 60-nation Political Committee.

In debate this morning, the Polish delegation was ready to introduce its old "omnibus" plan—the same one proposed by the Soviet Union and rejected by the Assembly in the last session a year ago.

Delegates Watch Vishinsky

Russian Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky was expected to attend the opening debate and delegates watched for him to give a sign of possible new softening in the Red tactics.

Before the meeting started, Soviet bloc delegates remained completely secretive about their plans. But there was general feeling they would introduce some changes in the light of Russia's new peace offensive and the prisoner of war talks in Korea.

Vishinsky heightened corridor speculation last week when he expressed impatience to get on with the committee's work rather than take a long Easter holiday because he felt the Polish item was "of great importance."

Demanded Cease-Fire

The original Polish proposal included a demand for an immediate cease-fire in Korea to be followed later by political discussions on the exchange of prisoners of war and other problems.

Delegates had expected this part of the resolution would be altered even if the Reds stuck to their main objective in the U. N. because of hopeful signs that current negotiations at Panmunjom may lead to a Korean truce.

The U. S. and other Western allies had no intention of speaking up until they heard what the Communist bloc in the U. N. had to propose. American spokesmen said the original Polish proposal already has been more or less "taken care of" piece by piece during this session of the Assembly.

Korea already has been debated, they pointed out, but could be brought up again if the Reds have something concrete to propose toward a peaceful settlement.

Other sections of the proposal call for world disarmament along the lines Russia has been demanding all along, a Big Five peace pact and the banning of atomic and bacteriological weapons.

Iowa Jet Ace Missing Over North Korea

BULLETIN

TOKYO, Friday — Red China's Peiping radio said today that double jet ace Harold Fischer was shot down and captured in Manchuria Tuesday.

SEOUL (AP)—Capt. Harold E Fischer Jr., an Iowa farm boy who shot down MIGs in duck-hunter style and earned double jet ace rating, is missing in action over North Korea.

Fischer, 27, from Swea City Ia., failed to return from his 70th mission Tuesday.

His wing man, Lt. Richard G. Knowland Jr. of Goshen, Mass., said he saw Fischer for the last time in a clash with a Red fighter near the Suiho Reservoir along the Yalu River.

Fischer shot down 10 MIG jets in 66 missions.

He told this correspondent two weeks ago, "I have never considered the possibility of not coming back. My father is counting on me coming back some day to help him, and I certainly intend to do it."

Knowland said of Fischer's last flight:

"I lost him in the haze, and called him on the radio and told him we were separated.

"He yelled back, emphatically, 'Get out, get out.' That was an order for me to go home. Usually Hal was so calm and easy when giving orders, but not this time.

"He must have been in bad trouble."

Knowland said he and Fischer followed a MIG for some time and that Fischer dove for an attack.

"Capt. Fischer barrel-rolled around the MIG and I barreled around Fischer," Knowland said. "When I was on top of the roll, the MIG broke and Fischer went after him. That was the last I saw of him."

Fischer became the 25th jet ace, with five MIG kills, on Jan. 24. He reached the elite double jet status March 21.

He told a newsman in an interview March 23, "I sort of hate to let the Air Force know about this," then disclosed that he knocked down eight of his 10 MIGs "like you would shoot ducks."

"I used what I called Kentucky windage—just lead those MIGs enough so they'd run into the bullets, like you do a flying duck."

But he called the Sabre's radar gunsight "a wonderful gunsight and I wouldn't ever want to be without it."

Marines Retake Strategic Hill In Bitter Fight

Point Had Been Recently Captured By Hordes Of Reds

SEOUL (AP)—American Marines clawed their way back to the top of Carson Hill today after 300 to 350 Red Chinese overran the strategic West Korean outpost in a frenzied predawn assault.

There was no report whether Leathernecks who took the first assault died in their bunkers or pulled off the hill. The number presumably was small.

Attacking behind a curtain of artillery and mortar fire, the Reds swarmed up the hill and into Marine defenses. Communications were knocked out in the first 10 minutes, but observers on nearby hills watched Marines battling Reds hand to hand, the Eighth Army said.

A 1st Marine Division officer estimated that 220 Chinese were killed or wounded.

A Marine relief force started inching its way up the shell-pitted slopes at 8 a.m. and 35 minutes later the hill was reported secured.

Outpost Carson, scene of bitter fighting two weeks ago, is only eight miles east of Panmunjom, where negotiations now under way might lead to a truce in Korea.

U. S. B29 Superforts dumped 150 tons of explosives on a big Red supply dump which the Communists have been patiently filling with war materiel the past several weeks, the Fifth Air Force said. The big base covered 115 acres near Taechon in Western Korea.

The Reds preceded their attack against Carson with harassing fire all day Wednesday and Wednesday night.

The Chinese attacked at 3:48 a.m., lobbing hand grenades into the Marine trenches.

Reinforcements were sent up, but at 5:40 the Reds were in the Marines' trenches and tunnels and had already taken Carson.

The Marines tried to counterattack at 5:48 but the Reds beat them back.

Both sides were observed fighting near the crest at 6:28, and at 6:55 a. m. Two Marines were seen right on the crest.

Marine reinforcements started up the slopes of the hill at 8 a.m. and reached the top in 10 minutes. Incoming mortar and artillery fire was very heavy, but at 8:35 a.m. the hill was secured.

The Red mortar and artillery dwindled later in the morning, when Allied planes dropped smoke bombs between Carson and the Communist lines.

Nuptials Unite Royal Houses Of Europe

LUXEMBOURG, Luxembourg (AP)—A fairy-tale royal wedding united the reigning houses of two-thirds of the Benelux countries today before nobility of 11 European nations and some 140,000 more persons than the church could hold.

In twin civil and religious rites, the grand duchy's heir apparent Prince Jean and Belgium's Princess Josephine Charlotte, sister of King Baudouin, were married.

Jean, 32, is slim, dark, mustached and a World War II soldier who fought with Britain's Irish Guards to free his homeland from the Nazis.

Someday he will succeed his mother, Grand Duchess Charlotte, as reigning monarch of this rich though tiny realm of 300,000 people and valuable coal, steel and iron industries.

200 Numbered Bass Put In Lake, Streams

Columbiana Game Protector R. L. Lide announced today that 200 smallmouth bass have been released at Guilford Lake and the three branches of Little Beaver Creek.

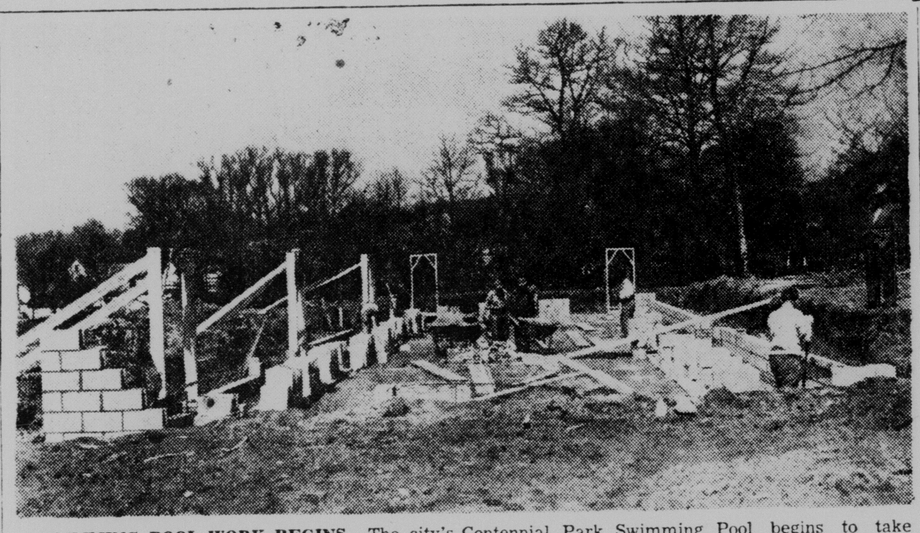

Small metal tags are clamped to their lower jaw on which numbers are printed.

Ten of these, he said, were placed in Guilford and the other 19 plants were made from the headwaters of Little Beaver Creek down as far as Grimm's Bridge.

He explained the purpose of this stocking was to study the migration of these fish to see if their down a stream or whether they just movement happens to be up or disappear.

Fisherman catching one of the fish bearing the tag will do themselves and the Ohio Division of Wildlife a great service if they will return the tag to R. L. Lide or any other game protector, it is stressed.

Former Russia Envoy Retired

Kennan Had Disagreed With Dulles' Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department will soon lose the services of George F. Kennan, former ambassador to Moscow and one of the department's two top Russian experts.

His retirement has, in effect, been forced by policy differences between him and Secretary of State Dulles.

Kennan, long-time policy planning chief and author of the controversial Russian containment policy, will go on a pension "in the near future," the department announced last night.

The containment policy with which Kennan was identified—the idea of holding back Russian expansion by strengthening the free nations—was criticized by Dulles during the election campaigns last year as completely inadequate.

Dulles advocated a more active policy of moral pressure and propaganda moves looking to ultimate liberation of Soviet satellite states. In a speech Jan. 16, Kennan cautioned against the U. S. officially committing itself to such a policy.

Thereafter, Dulles called in Kennan, who explained he had not intended his speech as an attack upon testimony which Dulles had given about his liberation proposals to a Senate committee a day earlier. The incident was written off as closed but it was not actually over by any means.

The policy differences between the two men remained unresolved and Dulles finally decided he would have no new place for Kennan in the diplomatic team which he and President Eisenhower are deploying over the world. Under a law applying to the foreign service, a diplomat of Kennan's supergrade of "career minister" is automatically retired in three months if he gets no new assignment.

Pomeroy Mayor Has Municipal Troubles

POMEROY, O. (AP)—Mayor Delmar A. Canaday's troubles were still with him today, but the town government was resuming some of its operations.

The mayor Wednesday suspended municipal activities as a result of disagreements with City Council.

On the job today were four police officers including Chief Walter Wolfe, all ordered back to work by Common Pleas Judge Cedric Clark and the mayor.

"The mayor can't fire me," Chief Wolfe said. He added he had been hired originally by former Mayor Malcolm Hartley in 1941 and had passed a civil service examination for the job. However, four special officers appointed by Mayor Canaday were not on duty. Their appointment is still subject to approval by the council, which has not met in regular session for three weeks.

Canaday is facing two hearings, one April 14 in Common Pleas Court on an injunction order restraining the mayor and police officers from bothering local taxi operators, and the other in probate court where Judge Harmon O'Brien will act on ouster proceedings brought against the mayor. No date has been set for that hearing.

Pentagon Red Tape Is Sifted In Senate Ammunition Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators sifted through an amazing story of Pentagon red tape and conflicting testimony today looking for some way to uncover who and what were responsible for an ammunition shortage in Korea.

They clearly were not ready to accept the view of former Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett. He said the blame would have to be assigned "to the Army as a whole." They wanted names of those involved and what part they played in ammunition procurement.

In this search, a Senate armed services subcommittee called for testimony today from former Secretary of the Army Frank Pace Jr. and former Under Secretary of the Army Archibald S. Alexander.

Yesterday, Sen. Byrd (D-Va) denounced the Army's system of preparing ammunition contracts as "the most colossal and terrible thing I've ever known."

"Sometime," he said, "we've get to find out who's responsible."

Byrd's angry outburst came after he heard that an ammunition order traveled 10,000 miles, passed through the hands of 42 agencies and more than 200 individuals, and required 287 days—nine months—of processing just to reach the contract stage.

Senators were expected to quiz Pace about Lovett's assertion that as defense secretary he tried to get increased production out of the Army for more than a year without success. Finally, Lovett said, he took production control from the Army and gave it to a civilian assistant.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, retired former commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, touched off the inquiry when he testified last month there was a serious and sometimes critical shortage of ammunition during all the 22 months he was in Korea.

Lovett said the first he knew of any shortage was in September, 1951, five months after Van Fleet took command of the Eighth Army. At that time, Lovett said, he called in Secretary Pace and asked him to look into the situation.

The former defense secretary, who has returned to his private investment business in Wall Street, insisted he tried for months to get the Army to step up ammunition production.

VFW Officers Installed At Dinner Party

Twenty-two officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Dads of Foreign Service Veterans of the Allen Reynolds Post 892, VFW, were installed at a banquet meeting at the post home last night

Nearly 100 members and guests of the V.F.W., the Dads and the Ladies Auxiliary attended the dinner and watched the installation of officers.

Robert G. Yuhas of Parma, V. F. W. assistant regional service officer at Crile Veterans Hospital and speaker of the evening, explained the duties of a service officer at a veterans hospital and urged V.F.W. members to avail themselves of the many services of the Veterans administration.

Newly-elected officers of the post were installed in an impressive ceremony following the dinner by Richard Drabenstadt of Wooster sixth district commander of the V. F. W.

The new officers of the post are: Rex R. Reich, commander; Don Hoobler, senior vice-president; Sherman Goddard, junior vice-president; James A. Rhodes, quartermaster; Robert Spanbauer, judge advocate; Tony Viola, surgeon; and Kenneth Evans, Joseph Mayhew and Charles Dimko; third, second and first year trustees, respectively.

Officers of the Dads of the V. F.W. are : R. L. Talbot, president; F. G. Ackerman, senior vice-president; C. C. King, junior vice-president; Everett S. Dean, treasurer; Ed Tullis, chaplain; R. C. Schaffer, judge advocate;

Walter Kennedy, sergeant-at-arms; Michael Smith, guard; and P. K. Laughlin, George Mingos, John Sommers, Dick Reedy and George Harroff, fifth, fourth, third, second and first-yer trustees, respectively.

New Pill Benefits Leukemia Victims

CHICAGO (AP)—A new pill often stops leukemia, incurable cancer of the blood, for a while, it was announced today.

It is the first in a brand new family of drugs that show promise against leukemia. It is not a cure. Like other anti-leukemia drugs, it brings only a few extra months of life and health—up to six months—and it doesn't benefit all victims.

The drug is named 6-mercaptopurine, nicknamed M. P. In effect, it throws a monkey wrench into cancerous leukemic cells. It closely resembles a chemical, adenine, which the cancerous cells need for life. It's just enough different so that when cancer cells start using it, it jams their machinery.

Formal Signing Of Agreement Expected Friday

Communists Repeat That They Will Trade Only 600 Prisoners

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—The Communists unexpectedly agreed this afternoon to all major points of an Allied proposal for exchanging sick ard wounded prisoners. An agreement may be signed Friday.

Agreement on the mechanics of trading disabled prisoners came during a meeting of staff officers which followed the regular session of liaison groups.

If an agreement is signed Friday, exchange of sick and wounded prisoners could start within 10 days. The Reds reiterated earlier today that they will return no more than 600 Allied prisoners—including probably not more than 125 Americans.

Reds Answer Questions

The Communist staff officers delivered replies to three questions asked earlier by the chief U. N. delegate. The agreement covers the size and operation of convoys and sets the termination date for the exchange at 20 days after the agreement becomes effective.

A formal signing Friday and ironing out of minor technical details could pave the way for a resumption of full-scale armistice talks to resolve the long remaining issue blocking a truce in Korea—an overall exchange of prisoners.

A highly placed American source said the Communists already have begun gathering together the sick and wounded for repatriating through Panmunjom, and that the exchange probably will take place within 10 days.

Stick To 600 Figure

The Reds turned down a U. N. attempt to get them to increase the number of POWs they said they would turn over to the Allies. The Reds stuck to their figure of 600—including probably no more than 125 Americans.

The Allies have said they are ready to send back 5,800 disabled Red captives, 5,100 North Koreans and 700 Chinese.

Rear Adm. John C. Daniel, chief U. N. liaison officer, said he tried three times in the meeting at Panmunjom Thursday to get the Communists to sign the agreement. They wouldn't get out their pens,

Two Sisters Reunited In Alaskan Home

After two years and a 5,000 mile airplane trip a 15-year-old Columbiana County girl will see her 13-year-old sister again.

The trip started Tuesday when she left Pittsburgh for Chicago with Rigby Mast, Columbiana County welfare director.

Mast said the girl, as well as the 13-year-old sister and two younger sisters had been wards of the Welfare Department.

He said the 13-year-old sister was adopted a year ago by a general superintendent of a West Coast construction company and taken to Alaska to live.

The general manager of the same company saw the youngster and heard about the other sister and started plans to adopt the 15-year-old girl.

The 15-year-old girl took a plane from Chicago and landed in Seattle Tuesday night to meet her future parents. The girl and the couple were to leave today from Seattle for Fairbanks.

The couple have a home in both Fairbanks and Monterey, Calif.

The two younger sisters are now living in Oregon.

The children's mother is dead and the father still lives in this county.

Mast said the future parents paid all of the expenses to bring the child to them.

White House Denies Times' Story On Division Of Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today the Eisenhower administration "has never reached any conclusion that a permanent division of Korea is desirable or feasible."

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty also said the administration has never conclued that such a division would be "consistent with the decisions of the United Nations."

Hagerty at his daily news conference said further no consideration has been given by the administration to establishment of a trusteeship for Formosa.

Hagerty brought up the subject by referring to a Washington dispatch in today's New York Times.

The story said the Eisenhower administration is "willing to accept a settlement in Korea based on a boundary at the narrow waist of the peninsula," about 90 miles north of the present battle line.

The story also said the administration "is casting about for a solution that would assure an independent Formosa," the island stronghold of the Chinese national government.

"A possibility being considered," the Times said, "is a United Nations trusteeship for that strategic island, with the creation of a republic of Formosa as the ultimate goal."

Hagerty said he had been asked for comment on the story and in response he was making this statement:

"The reported administration policy on Formosa and Korea is without foundation of fact.

"No consideration has been given by the administration to a United Nations Trusteeship for Formosa.

"Likewise, the administration has never reached any conclusion that a permanent division of Korea is desirable or feasible, or consistent with the decisions of the United Nations."

Senate Group OK's Extension Of Rent Lids

WASHINGTON (AP)—A five-month extension of federal rent controls has won the approval of the Senate Banking Committee but it faces a rocky path toward final congressional passage.

The committee pulled a surprise yesterday by voting 10-5 to accept President Eisenhower's recommendation for continuance through Sept. 30 of the ceilings which cover 5,600,000 housing units throughout the nation. These represent about one-third of all rental units.

At the same time, it approved 12-3 a controversial provision to give the President power to freeze all prices, wages and rents in a war crisis.

These were the two major sections in a package economic controls bill on which the committee finished action. It also would extend powers which the administration has asked to continue the mobilization buildup.

Senators Bricker (R Ohio) and Bennett (R-Utah), who were in the minority on rent controls extension and the 90-day freeze in the committee votes, said today they would fight to knock them out on the floor.

Present federal rent curbs are of two kinds.

General ceilings now cover about 4,300,000 housing units in 1,400 cities including such big ones as Chicago, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Boston, Baltimore, Minneapolis St. Paul and Cleveland. These lids were kept on last year by affirmative vote of city councils; they are now scheduled to die at the end of this month.

The committee voted to continue them for five months.

The other rent controls are ceilings which apply in critical defense areas where the housing shortage results from some big military project. These cover 1,300,000 housing units and also die April 30.

New 'Security' Orders Issued By Pentagon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department insisted today military security, not any desire to suppress information about the progress or shortcomings of the armed forces, is responsible for a new and stringent series of orders.

That explanation was given by public relations officers to reporters' inquiries about a Pentagon decision Wednesday to ban further public demonstrations of new weapons. That order, which stopped Army plans to show its new "nike" anti-aircraft guided missile later this month, followed by a few days two sharply worded directives from Secretary of Defense Wilson.

In one of them, Wilson threatened disciplinary action, including courtmartial for military personnel or trial for civilian employes, who disclose matters the Pentagon considers "classified." In the other, he ordered "important policy documents" be kept only in the hands of officials who need to know of their contents.

Wednesday's terse Pentagon announcement said: "The Department of Defense announced today that, for reasons of economy and security, public demonstrations of important new weapons and equipment are not in the public interest at this ime."

The Army then cancelled a planned trip by a number of members of Congress and news representatives to Burlington N. C., and White Sands, N. M., to see the manufacture and a test of the "nike" missile with which the Army claims to be able to knock down bombers a dozen or more miles away, despite the speed or maneuvering of the aircraft.

Prisoners

he said, but they told him they would be ready to sign at tomorrow's 11 a.m. meeting.

"I'm doing everything I can to have it signed tomorrow," Daniel said. "I think it's quite possible."

Ready To Exchange

Asked if the U. N. is ready to start the exchange on 24 to 48 hours' notice, Daniel said, "We're ready to go."

Only minor matters needed to be settled before the agreement, and staff officers were at work on these.

The Communists today promised to hand over sick and wounded Allied POWs at the rate of 100 a day. They said they would receive 500 disabled Reds from the Allies each day.

If the agreement on arrangements for trade of sick and wounded prisoners is signed Friday, it will have been hammered out in only five days of businesslike meetings, in contrast to the full-scale armistice negotiations that began in July, 1951, lagged through months of acrimonious debate, then were broken off indefinitely by the Allies last Oct. 8.

Daniel said no reference had been made inside the Panmunjom conference hut to a resumption of the main truce talks.

Red China Premier Chou En-lai has proposed this and U. N. Commander Gen. Mark Clark has asked top Red leaders in North Korea for specific details of Chou's plan, but so far there has been no Red reply.

If an exchange of sick and wounded POWs goes well, Clark has indicated that he might agree to sending his armistice negotiators back to Panmunjom.

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Cho, head of the Communist liaison group, opened today's session by handing U. N. representatives the Red revisions of a nine-point plan on arrangements proposed by the Allies Monday.

The revisions mostly concerned wording, although the Reds asked deletion of a paragraph setting the size of convoys in which prisoners would be delivered.

Daniel studied the revisions during a recess of almost an hour, then returned to the meeting hut and told the Reds:

"From a preliminary study of your proposed changes it appears that there are no controversial issues between us."

Daniel also posed several questions concerning an agreement, one of which was how soon after a signing would the Communists be able to start the actual trade at Panmunjom.

This was the only question to which Lee replied. He said:

"If this agreement can be signed on April 10, then according to the actual conditions of our side, repatriation may be commenced at Panmunjom not later than 10 days after the signing.

"As to the other questions submitted by your side, after my study I will answer to your side."

Daniel told Lee it would speed matters if "we could have your answers" today.

Daniel then took up the figure of 600 prisoners the Reds have agreed to return, a figure he said Wednesday was "incredibly small."

"It is my hope," he told Lee, "that you will give the broadest possible scope to the definition of sick and wounded when you make your final decision."

But Lee replied:

"The figures which our side gave you yesterday are the result of serious checking on the part of our side . . . ."

Adenauer Assured On Red Peace Move

WASHINGTON (AP) — German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, assured any Russian peace bid involving his country will get cautious handling by the U. S., winds up cold war talks with top American officials today.

Adenauer will be able to tell the German people, officials said, that his government will be consulted at every step before acceptance of any Soviet offer to unify Germany's East and West zones.

A formal communique announcing the results of Adenauer's three-day conference here is scheduled for release late this afternoon. The farewell meeting is at the White House with President Eisenhower.

no desire but to get where you are going quickly.

"Safety; What is proposed here, is a four lane highway on a street that is only wide enough for three lanes of moving traffic. The results would naturally be more accidents downtown, to say nothing of the pedestrian hazard with no protecting curbs.

"Usefullness; Anyone who is downtown during the week knows that no traffic problem other than normal exists. The only abnormal traffic is on Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. It seems a shame to forsake the old ideaology of a small friendly town for just two days out of the week. Plus the fact that if the predictions heretofore mentioned are borne out, and we feel sure they will be, we shall not be bothered by any traffic in two years.

"Let us dwell for a moment on finances. The State Highway department has publicly stated that unless extra funds are forthcoming, and incidently they are nowhere in sight, they will have no money to spend on highway improvements because of the large cost of building all the approach roads to the new turnpike, and all of the roadwork around the Atom Project in Pike County. This statement coupled with the tate's lacadaisical attitude towards our problem for the past six years, certainly does not lead any thinking man to believe that our situation will be handled overnight. Keep in mind, there is nothing on the state highway departments drawing boards for Salem, and that means at least two years in the processing.

"Our street has an excellent base. Few people know that there is a six inch base of concrete under the black-top, brick and slag. If the street were to be torn down to the concrete and rebuilt to handle the traffic that it is getting today, it would cost a high estimate of $30,000.00. Assuming the State would pay 50 per cent of the cost, our parking meters on State Street take in around $7,000 per year, it seems absurd under any kind of figuring to think that State aid is helping to pay, when you are losing that much meter revenue.

"However, the crux of the matter centers around just one thing: Our street needs repaired, and immediately.

"There are two feasible ways to handle it.

"1. The State should do it, and morally they are bound to do it, for certainly it was not the citizens of Salem cars who tore up the streets.

"2. The city should do it, and the undersigned merchants are willing to reimburse the city through frontage assessments, any figure that the State would contribute towards the paving.

"If the State will not do it, let's get busy and do it ourselves.

9 Killed In Crash Of British Trains

LONDON (AP)—Transport officials today announced a toll of nine persons killed and 50 injured in last night's shattering crash of two jam-packed London subway trains.

It took rescue workers more than 15 hours to cut their way through the tangled wreckage to reach the last four bodies, including that of a mother still clutching her 2-year-old baby in death.

Transport officials said a signal failure may have figured in the disaster.

Two men were brought out at dawn after being pinned for nearly 10 hours in the debris-choked tunnel between the stations of Stratford and Leyton. Doctors had to amputate one man's leg in order to free him.

The search of six shattered coaches continued, but officials expressed belief that all the dead and living had been found.

Eight of the injured were reported in a serious condition.

Many persons not listed as casualties were given first aid on the spot for minor cuts and bruises.

The crash occurred at 7 p.m. last night at the height of the homeward rush by London office workers, when one train pulled out of Stratford station and piled into the rear of another stopped on the line half a mile away.

Each train carried eight coaches and about 600 passengers.

If You Were A South Korean

Nothing is taken away from the prospect of a truce in Korea by the realization that it wouldn't solve any of the problems which caused the war.

An unhappy nation which had been promised sovereignty if the Allies won World War II would still be split in two by political fac tionalism. Korean independence still would be at the mercy of the strongest Asiatic power, which formerly was Japan and now is Red China.

Korea still would be an Asiatic battleground — a fate which history suggests was bestowed on it by geographic chance, since Koreans have been living on a battleground from the dawn of their recorded history.

Korea still would have no more assurance of independence than it had during World War II, when everything depended on the word of governments which were subject to change; or than it had after World War II when a haphazard decision permitted Russian troops to occupy its northern half; or than it had when it was left wholly to the mercy of Communists by the United States' decision to pull its troops out of the country.

If you were a South Korean, the prospect of a truce would leave you cold. It would be little more under the circumstances than a prospect of being abandoned to the military force which will presumably continue in occupation of the upper half of a blood-drenched peninsula. It would be a prospect of defeat, not peace.

No Law Against It

When the Taft-Hartley Act was new, the pressures which had forced Congress to do something about the lawlessness of organized labor were felt in state legislatures, too.

"Little Taft-Hartley Acts" were springing up all over the place and were mowed down by ruthless use of an argument now being challenged—that one over-all federal law would be preferable.

At it turned out, what proved to be preferable as far as unions were concerned, was one overall National Labor Relations Board, staffed with union sympathizers. NLRB's sympathetic rulings in cases which came before it gave the unions a clear field. They could concentrate their attention on Washington—their lobbying on Congress—their pressure on one group of men making administrative rulings with the effect of law.

But something may be added to the famous Taft-Hartley Act. Since the unions want to amend it, there is a move afoot to add a small amendment which would say simply that nothing in the act shall bar any state from making laws about striking and picketing.

This would cancel at one stroke the effect of the NLRB rulings which knocked out state authority over organized labor. It would return these problems to 48 political jurisdictions. It would put the union carpet-bagger out of business and block the national impact of NLRB rulings.

It would restore more states' rights than anything which Congress could do, short of adopting a resolution to repeal the income-tax amendment.

Expert Advice

For the first time, the report has been voiced that some Americans believe defense spending must be kept high to avert an industrial slump.

Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, says he nas felt the pressure of lobbying not only from militarists who want maximum appropriations but from contractors and industrialists.

These men, according to Sen Ferguson, fear the consequences of a too-sudden cutback in military spending. They are finding ready and willing allies in the militarists, who fear cutbacks for another reason.

Fortunately, the government has expert advice in these matters, thanks to the outcome of the election last November.

It has in Gen. Eisenhower a chief executive whose opinion on military matters is as expert as any opinion which could be obtained. It has in the members of the Eisenhower cabinet and their assistants the country's best-informed industrialists.

For once, it will not be necessary to take anyone's word for anything, because the best experts are in charge of the best places to influence government dcisions.

Gen. Eisenhowes is reported to have passed down the word that he will be his own lobbyist in military matters. Secretary of Defense Wilson can be his counterpart in business matters. Who else is better qualified to guide Congress?

The person who constantly boasts about how bright he is doesn't strike us as a shining example.

Prizes were awarded for good roads slogans in a western city. The best one we can think of is "repair 'em!"

Safeguard On Treaties

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Bricker Proposition Aimed In Right Direction

Shall the American people have the same right as do the people of Great Britain or France or Canada or Australia to vote on whether a treaty negotiated by the executive branch of the government shall be approved or rejected by all their elected representatives in the national legislature?

This is the real issûe arising out of the proposal of Sen. Bricker that the federal Constitution be amended to prevent treaties from superseding the laws of the land unless both Houses approve by majority vote.

While Secretary Dulles in a speech last year endorsed the principle, which is also sponsored by the American Bar Association and 64 senators, he now takes the position that the matter should be studied further by a national commission.

The idea of further study is a sound one because it is apparent that the safeguards which Secretary Dulles says can be given during the Eisenhower administration —namely, that no treaties will be negotiated which affect domestic rights and problems plainly national rather than international — do not offer a permanent solution.

Some of the very points made by the secretary, to the effect that the executive must be free to act quickly in makirg agreements with foreign governments, especially in emergencies, are really arguments for an entirely different setup than is avialable at present under our Constitution. For what Britain and Canada have — and America doesn't — is flexibility.

The spectacle of a president negotiating an agreement such as the Versailles Treaty in 1919, which embodied the Covenant of the League of Nations, and then seeing the American Senate refuse to ratify it is one that has affected adversely the course of world history. This may have contributed substantially to the conditions of disunity which made it possible for Hitler to risk a world war.

What Sen. Bricker and his colleagues propose, however, does not go far enough. It is an attempt to reach by indirection that which might better be tackled directly. For the real goal is maximum flexibility for the executive in negotiating agreements but with the stipulation that the Congress shall be given an opportunity to ratify or reject every agreement made by the executive, which is at present the privilege and right of the legislatures in the principal parliamentary governments of the world.

In recent years the tendency of the American executive has been to circumvent Senate ratification by making "agreements" and failing to submit them to the senate as treaties. Certainly the famous Yalta agreements were treaties, but they have never been submitted to the Senate for ratification or rejection.

A system that gives one party control of both the executive and legislative branches and makes such a party subject to the check of the people at any time — and not at fixed four-year periods — would prevent a deadlock between the two branches of the government. It would also insure that the executive, in making any treaty or agreement, would have to take into account whether a two-thirds majority would ratify such a treaty or agreement. There would be nc repetition of the episode in 1920, when the Senate was controlled by one political party and the White House by another political party.

A two-thirds vote of both Houses of Congress for ratification of a treaty would be a better system than at present, which provides only for a two-thirds vote of the enate. Executive agreements would not have to be ratified but would be subject to challenge by the minority, and no vote on them would have to be taken if the majority so decided.

Likewise, if an administration could be removed on a two-thirds vote, recording a "lack of confidence," it could result either in a new legislature or a new executive and the people's interests would be better protected than at present in the event that it was desired to surrender certain portions of sovereignty as treaties sometimes require.

It wouldn't make any difference then whether a treaty was or was not "the supreme law of the land" because, if Congress wanted to approve a treaty which affected domestic matters, it could do so by a two-thirds vote of both houses, anyway.

Where such vital and fundamental questions emerge as might subtract from domestic rights, a two-thirds vote of both Houses is a much better safeguard than two-thirds of one House would be.

Raising the issue of how to prevent treaties from giving away basic rights protected by the Constitution is a timely development because it must inevitably focus attention on how inflexible and absolute our present arrangement is for the conduct of foreign relations.

The discussion will tend to emphasize how much more democratic a representative system is when the party in power is made responsible to the people directly and at all times.

Pest Control

By TRUMAN TWILL

Along with April showers and May flowers, springtime brings the problem of birds.

For the last few mornings, there has been the beginning of what will be bedlam in another month. It is as if the first few musicians were tuning up halfheartedly for the concert, waiting for al lthe others to arrive so all of them could squeak bellow toot, thump and throb fortissimo.

A few years of exposure to this ear-splitting nuisance have hardened one who used to bring down on his head the twittering protests of bird lovers by questioning the usefulness of birds and their right to exist. But the hardening must be done over each spring.

Until it has been done, one shrill whistle out of an impudent cardinal five feet from a bedroom window is enough to set off a general household alarm. But by the middle of June, the din will be so all-pervasive no one will be able to hear anything in particular.

Theoretically, birds sing for a selfish reason; they want to attract attention to themselves for you know why. But the theory doesn't square with the practice, which is to blast off long after the mating season is gone and almost forgotten.

The silly saps make all that noise because they feel good. There is an American thrush that lives in our lilac bush and feels so good on sunny summer mornings he sounds like a phonograph recording of a whole barnful of canaries.

There is a flock of crows that hang out in a grove across the creek and make cocophony in the morning for no better reason than an early-morning broadcaster who likes the sound of his voice.

Those universal pests, the robins, actually are less annoying than the cardinals in the summertime chorus of senseless peeping, yapping, twittering and jittering. The robins are outnumbered in our neighborhood by the harider and more courageous cardinals, which is as it should be.

The cardinals earn the right to make nuisances of themselves, because they stay put throughout the rigers of the northern winter. It should have been a cardinal that Noah sent out from the Ark, instead of a totally unreliable dove. The cardinal would have brought back something worthwhile to prove that the flood was receding.

It's almost spring. The orchestra is beginning to tune up. A householder with birds in his trees will be put to it to get a night's rest before another month has passed.

All of this ran through the mind this morning at breakfast of a non-bird-lover, who has become hardened to the inevitability of the pests, and is about to be put to the test. There were four cardinals, a batch of chickadees, a few sparrows and some barn swallows in the neighborhood of the bird feeder this morning.

They would have been in the feeder, itself, had it not been for the presence of a black tomcat who also had breakfast on his mind. He was in the cherry tree above the feeder, looking very unbirdlike up there a substantial reminder that nature has a balance to maintain and if there are too many birds there will have to be more cats.

Sic 'em cat! You won't catch 'em but you'll give the pests something to think about.

One Time It'd Be a Pleasure to Go Into Action

Who Risks Our Sons' Lives?

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Gen. James A. Van Fleet's testimony opens the way to a great crime—the crime of keeping our sons in Korea, after victory was possible, by deliberately withholding the munitions required for a real war and victory. Van Fleet's testimony before the Senate Armed Services subcommittee indicates that the State Department assumed the responsibility for the conduct of war, which is none of its business. Furthermore, Van Fleet said that he could twice have won victories, but was stopped by Gen. Ridgway.

Sokolsky

Incidentally, I heard Gen. Ridgway speak as critically of the conduct of the Korean War and of the munitions shortage. It is likely that what Gen. Van Fleet complains about is not Gen. Ridgway's fault any more than it was Gen. MacArthur's fault.

-:-

IT IS DUE to the oblique, maze-like, confused and not understandable expenditure of American lives by the oh! so nice people in the State Department. They did not want an American victory in Korea. What they did want in Korea was never made clear to the American people or to the commanders of our troops in that theater.

This is not the usual interdepartmental quarrel. Three great American generals, MacArthur, Ridgway and Van Fleet, have called attention to something that transcends the immediate issue of the Korean War — namely that American policy withheld victory from our arms; that American citizens, our own sons, were risked unduly and carelessly, and that more than 23,000 of them have been expended in that war despite the possibility of victory.

There has always been a possibility of victory since January 12, 1951, when MacArthur showed the way.

THE HEARINGS before the Russell committee, which already seem to have been forgotten, clearly established that the Joint Chiefs of Staff believed that a victory could be achieved but that Gen. Marshall disagreed with them.

Sen. Margaret Chase Smith is performing a great public service in delving deeply into the conditions under which our sons fight in Korea.

In the end, her committee ought to study the philosophy behind the conduct of this war; who is responsible for the decision to avoid victory; who kept our sons there without adequate coverage.

There must have been a decision taken somewhere by someone which became the determining factor in this war. Why was that decision made?

Even if a full peace is made with Soviet Russia, the course of the Korean War should be examined in detail in the interest of the future of this country.

Small minds, hidden in little jobs, never elected to office by the American people, lost in the melange of a large bureaucracy, gather the data and lay the basis for decisions. Suddenly something emerges that is terrific, that results in the death of Americans or a loss of national prestige, and nobody seems to be responsible.

BUT A FREE society cannot exist without fixed responsibility and without the assurance that no one is employed in our government whose interests are strongest in favor of some other government.

Today the fashion is to condemn those who are pro-Russian, just as at another period it was wrong to be pro-German or pro-Japanese.

Actually, every American official, in whatever position, ought to be pro-American, planning and working solely for the benefit of his own country.

In World War I, the hyphenated American was despised. Public opinion was not so wrong in its judgment then.

The difficulty has been that in our State Department and in the Pentagon there has been too great a tendency to measure American conduct by British necessities, or by the effect of American conduct upon the Indians or the Chinese or some other people.

THE RESULT is that the United States has not been able to formulate its own policies, but has improvised as a reflex to the policies of other countries.

This has been particularly true with regard to Russian or British policies. The Russians seized the initiative immediately after Stalingrad and have held it since.

The United States has not taken the initiative in a matter of foreign policy since Roosevelt's Quarantine Speech in 1937. Thereafter, our policy has been a response to the challenges from other countries to our great damage throughout the world.

When little Burma can flout us, we are weak, indeed. It ought not to be that way.

Health To You

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Seek Doctor's Advice On Adopting A Child

In most respects there are no important differences between the health problems of adopted children and those who are not. There are, however, several problems connected with adoption, or questions concerning adoption which constantly crop up and which make a great deal of difference to both the child and to the adoptive parents.

Dr. Jordan

First, and most important, the question of adoption usually comes up for couples who desire children but do not seem able to have any of their own. Furthermore, there are many infants or children who are deprived of normal family life by their parents' death or perhaps economic disaster, and who can be given their birthright of family life only if they are adopted.

Thus it is frequently desirable both from the standpoint of the child and of some married couples to join together and form a normal family unit of parents and child or children.

It is perhaps too easy to decide, "Let's adopt a child." It cannot be emphasized too often that adoption is a step which should not be taken lightly.

The physical condition both of the prospective adopted child and of the prospective parents should be given serious consideration in advance if much grief is to be avoided.

Unhappily, the files of welfare agencies contain many instances in which an adopted child has some physical defect or disease which brings much unhappiness to the adoptive parents, and the reverse is also the case to such a degree that the couple making the adoption are unable to supply a reasonably satisfactory home life.

In other words, this column recommends that adoptions be made only with the best of advice from physicians and welfare agencies, since this would greatly increase the chances of suitable matching of the adoptive parents and the adopted child so that both would receive a good break towards happiness and health.

Two other questions concerning adoption frequently come up. One of them is whether an adopted child should be told that he or she is adopted.

Most of those who have studied this think very definitely that a child should be told as early as he or she can understand it. If this is simply and kindly done there is not only no harm, but much good accomplished.

The second is whether a couple is more likely to have a natural child soon after an adoption.

I do not know of any statistics on this, though there are certainly many instances in which a couple has gone childless for many years, adopted a child, and then shortly thereafter had one of their own. If there is any connection between these two events rather than pure accident, it is certainly hard to explain on physiological grounds.

High-speed motion picture cameras, greedily devouring film at a rate of 3500 frames each second, are helping scientists learn more about what goes on in blast furnaces.

Speaking of 'Voices'

Stop worrying, folks, for a few minutes over the Voice of America reaching the people of other nations and get this: So far as the airwaves are concerned, there isn't any real voice of America reaching Americans. Believe it or not, telecasts and braodcasts of situations of vital concern to every man and woman in the United States are being limited to brief interludes and shoved off abruptly in their most dramatically informative moments by jackpot programs, fashion shows, comedians, westerns and talks on how to bake a cake!

With every mother, father, sister, brother and sweetheart of servicemen deeply interested in the question whether our men in Korea have been and are still short of ammunition, and with a top commander testifying before a Senate committee the other day so that the country might get the truth, video and radio knocked him off the air after a brief coverage "in order to resume our regular programs."

A two-year commander of the forces in Korea was interrupted in his answer to an all-important question, conceivably bearing on the survival of America, by a jingle! Plugs for soaps, floor waxes, toothpastes, cigarets and detergents were the only replies the listening public got to the committee chairman's "Now then, general,, if the enemy had made a sustained all-out attack on us, would we have had encugh ammunition to defeat it?"

Millions of listeners must have felt an impulse to scream, tear their hair and leap from their chairs crying, "Oh no!" at the interruption. They realized, of course, that the airwave people are in business for money and have to get a return from their regular clients, but it flabbergasts them even now that no airwave outlet, no private organization, no government agency and no public-spirited group apparently thinks it of high importance to give more than a fleeting airwave glimpse of such inquiries.

A way was found to keep the Kefauver crime inquiry on the video all day for weeks. How come an investigation into the safety of GI's in Korea, and American preparedness for war, can get only "quickie" coverage while the affairs of the Costellos, Morans, Ericksons and Adonises can stay on the video screen for two weeks?

It is only a slight exaggeration to picture one of these vitally important inquiries as follows:

Q — Now, general, you have said there was a serious shortage of ammunition in Korea. Will you go into this in detail?

General — Yes. This is a most vital matter and I am glad to answer . . . .

Voice — We interrupt at this time to bring you station identification.

Q — Thanks, general. And is there anything to a rumor some of our tanks were shipped to Korea with no treads on?

General — I am glad yiu asked that question. Here is my answer . . . .

Voice — Ladies and gentlemen, this is the Armed Services Inquiry into munitions shortages in Korea. This program comes to you as a public service. It is now 11:30.

Q — I think that a very candid reply, general. Now suppose the Chinese were capable of a sustained drive, would our men be able to stop it?

General — The situation is like this, sir . . . .

Voice — And now ladies and gentlemen, we return to our scheduled programs. Stand by for Kitchen Kapers, Strike It Rich and Bride and Groom. And remember this afternoon to tune into Hawkins Falls, Oh, Baby and Kate Smith.

In agreeing to Dag Hammarskjold of Sweden as new secretary general of U.N., would you say the Kremlin was hoping for all rights including the Scandinavian? . . .Mr. Hammarskjold's hobby is mountain climbing and he is head of the Swedish Alpine Association. . . .This should fit him for proper performance in the U.N. world of snow and ice and enable him to open sessions with a cheery "Excelsior!" possibly entering the sessions with a couple of St. Bernards.

A Columbia lecturer has been fired following evidence that she offered to prove U.S. soldiers guilty of the foul crime of germ warfare, thereby aiding the Moscow line. . . .We hope no "bugs" will be found in the dismissal.

We hope that any proper solution to New York's subway problem will have "the taste Quill can't kill."

Arthur Godfrey is taking his entire troupe to Florida. . . .Two weeks down there will disabuse them of the idea a good salary will go very far.

The new postmaster general is taking a survey of the postoffice service in New York and if he runs across a letter we mailed from a point 35 miles away a week ago and which hasn't reached its destination yet, we will appreciate a word on it.

Looking Backward

FROM THE NEWS FILES

FIVE YEARS AGO — Nine fire alarms, one from the National Sanitary Co. plant, kept the Salem Fire Department busy early today. Damage estimated at several thousand dollars resulted from the blaze at the factory where brass plumbing fittings were destroyed.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mayor R. R. Johnson asked citizens generally and proprietors of business establishments to display the American flag next Friday, the day the Mullins Mfg. Corp. is to receive the Army-Navy "E" Award.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO — The April grand jury in its report to Judge W. F. Lones, fails to agree with the state department of public welfare investigator that a bond issue should be placed before the voters for a new county jail, and states that the need does not justify the expenditure.

FORTY YEARS AGO — Following the custom for several years past, the News has made arrangements to receive and bulletin baseball scores from both major leagues each evening throughout the season. As the opening game will be played Thursday, this bulletin service will begin Thursday evening. Watch the News bulletin board for scores; they will be posted as promptly as they can be received.

Jones Radio Family To Be At Nazarene Church

Rev. Bert Jones Sr., of the Pittsburgh Radio Family program, and his wife and five children will appear at the Church of the Nazarene Sunday at 9:45 and 11 a.m.

The Sunday program will be patterned after their radio broadcasts which were established three years ago by Rev. Bert Jones Sr., an ordained Methodist minister.

Their religious radio program, which is broadcast seven times a week from the living room of their home, is written by Rev. Jones and his wife. The songs for the program are written by Bert Jr., also an ordained minister.

They are joined by four other children; Ruth, 22, Carol, 17, Edmund, 20 and Raymond, 16, who take part in the programs, dramas and singing.

The elder Jones, who is a former secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association in Mass., believes that by preaching from the living room of their home they are better able to tell others the value of religion at home.

The Joneses will have charge of the Tri-County Youth Crusade Rally Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the Sebring Methodist Church.

Ohio Steel Plants Idled By Strike

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—A wildcat strike by 100 railroad workers stopped operations at the United States Steel Corp.'s huge Ohio Works and McDonald plant today.

Ten thousand steelworkers were temporarily out of jobs.

Earl Walker, supervisor of industrial relations at the Ohio Works, said all six blast furnaces had been banked by midnight. The open hearths, Bessemer converter and rolling mills also have been closed down, he said.

The strike, termed unauthorized by the Brotherhood of Railroad trainmen, was called on the Youngstown and Northern Railroad, a road serving the two plants and a subsidiary of united states steel.

The dispute concerns the workers' demands for more pay, but the details have not been disclosed.

Executive Committee Of UCT Plans Events

At the monthly meeting of the executive committee of the United Commerical Travelers Wednesday, the group planned to hold a "grand counselor's night" party at the Elks home Friday, Arpil 24. Honored will be John M. Miller of Jefferson, state president.

Plans for this meeting, which will include initiation by a degree team from New Castle Council, were made at the home of Henry W. Schuster, senior counselor. The women who will accompany their husbands to the party will be entertained by a Godey Fashion Review.

The annual Ladies Night party was planned for May 25 at the American Legion Home with Dr. L. C. Gobrecht of Pittsburgh as guest speaker.

Past Counselor H. Rex Hundeltmarck was named chairman of the social committee for the year. He will be in charge of arrangements for the annual Kids Day Picnic July 19 at Dora Park.

The executive committee voted to assist the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Soap Box Derby and J. E. McKibbin will serve as chairman of the racer inspection committee. Council executives also voted to sponsor two boys to the Salvation Army Summer Camp.

Due to membership gain during the year, the council has been awarded two guest trips to the national convention in Cincinnati in June. Members selected for the trip were C. Raymond Reich and William M. Schaeffer.

The committee will meet again May 13 at which time they will be host to a dinner party for these members winning recognition during the recent membership drive.

Ohio Man Is Free In Murder Case

PAULDING, O. (AP)—A jury early today acquitted Gehiza Adams, 27-year-old Paulding laborer accused of the first degree murder of a neighbor, Henry Grimes, 56.

The verdict came at 1:45 a. m.

The jurors got Adams' case Wednesday morning, and deliberated most of the day and night.

Adams was accused of slaying Grimes whom he accused of making love to Mrs. Adams. He testified at the trial he found Grimes in his car making love to the 29-year-old Mrs. Adams, after a drinking party Feb. 7. Adams said Grimes had tried to stab him during a quarrel, and that later he got a shotgun and killed the man.

DIES IN AUTO CRASH

SHELBY, O. (AP) — James D. Sweeney, 19, of Shelby, was killed Wednesday night in a one-car auto accident east of here on Ohio 96. The driver of the car, Leroy Patton, 18, of Shelby, was injured.

Franklin Square

Marine George Carlisle of Camp Lejeune, N.C. and Mary Carlisle of the Air Corps of Rome, N. Y., visited with their parents Mr. and Mrs. James Carlisle last week at Badgers Corner.

Sam Macioce accepted a manager's job at Kroger's store in Massillon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Patterson are the parents of a baby girl born at Salem City Hospital, Sunday.

This village was in darkness for two hours Saturday night owing to the accident below the bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stayton Jr. have moved into the apartment of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Shane of Youngstown and Mr. and Mrs. William Hall visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. McGown of Warren, Sunday.

The date of the songfest at the church is April 19 rather than April 12. There will be a special number.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall Calvin and family attended the private wedding of his brother Leo, of Greenford and Miss Dorothy Chilson of East Palestine at 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

LIQUOR FUNDS DISTRIBUTED

FALSE TEETH
THAT LOOSEN NEED NOT EMBARRASS

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

Leornians 'Cruise' Again, Plan 'Trip' Homeward May 13

The "arm chair" Mediterranean cruise which members of the Leornians have enjoyed during their 1952-53 season included a visit to Athens, Venice and the innumerable islands in the Mediterranean Sea Wednesday evening in the Public Library.

Athens, described as a charming city, was presented cleverly in a "letter" by Mrs. A. F. Huber, who wrote as if she were a resident of the famous Greek metropolis. Mrs. Huber said that the Greeks are a people with no envy in their hearts and the failure of communism there is attributed to that trait.

Why Venice would be an ideal spot for a "golden honeymoon" was illustrated by Mrs. E. T. Trebilcock as she told of the "Magnificent reality" which is this city built on 120 islands and connected by a series of canals and 400 bridges.

Venice embraces all style of architecture, according to Mrs Trebilcock. She told of the arched bridges which span the canals.

Mrs. Vernon Broomall's contribution to the study was a comprehensive coverage of the islands found in the estimated 1,145,000 square miles of water of the Mediterranean. She told of the important islands of Sicily, Sardinia, Corsica and the Balearic Isles of Majorca, Menorca, Iviza and Formentera and in the east division, Cyprus, Rhodes, Crete, Malta and the Ionian Islands.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Thomas Mercer.

At the business session presided over by Mrs. O. A. Naragon, the members decided to join the proposed Salem Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. Harry Loria was named representative to the Federation meetings and a report on the Federation was made by Mrs. Willard Albertsen. Two new members were elected.

Mrs. Erven McLaughlin in her review of books spoke of "East of Eden" by John Steinbeck, "The Wonderful Country" (Tom Lea), "Geography of Hunger" (Josue de Castro), "Stephania" (Ilona Karmel) and "The Magic Lantern" (Robert Carson).

Forsythia and daffodils were arrayed beneath a pale lavender umbrella to carry out the April Showers theme at the attractively-appointed tea table where Mrs. Naragon presided at the silver service.

Hostesses were Mrs. Cecil Kerr, Mrs. Elmer Kerr, Miss Katherine Minth, Miss Helen Thorp, Mrs. Jane Votaw and Miss Martha Krauss.

Guest night will be observed at the next and final seasonal meeting May 13. There will be a guest speaker for this "homeward bound" session in the library.

Former Salem Man Exhibits Paintings

Artist Tom Rowlands, a former Salem resident, has thirteen of his paintings exhibited at the Pittsburgh Playhouse Gallery this month.

The 28-year-old Rowlands, who moved to Pittsburgh two years ago, has distinguished himself by winning prizes in both drawing and oil works in the 1952 and 1953 Associated Artists exhibitions.

He was awarded the Henry A. Posner prizes for his oil painting, "Early Anger", at the 43rd annual exhibition of the Pittsburgh Artists Association held in the Carnegie Museum recently.

Rowlands, who was born here, has studied at the Parsons School of Design and the Art Students League in New York.

He was artist-in-residence at the Cape Cod Institute in Hyannis during the summer of 1952 and has exhibited at the Butler Art Institute in Youngstown, the Canton Museum and the Carnegie Institute.

Eagles To Attend Zone Conference

Quaker City Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will take a large delegation of members and a class of candidates to Canton for a zone welfare conference Saturday and Sunday, Worthy President Michael Yunk said today.

Quaker City Aerie will send five delegates and a large number of other lodge members are planning to attend. A class of candidates will go to Canton Sunday afternoon for a mass initiation.

Several hundred members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Eagles in this zone will have their own conference in the host city on the same dates.

Petiteens Welcome New Girl To Club

Joyce Blaine was welcomed as a new member to the Petiteen Club Tuesday evening at the home of hostess Johanna Kieffer on W. Tenth St.

Thank you cards were received from Mrs. Shirley Hilliard Roberts, a former member, and from the Kiwanis Club.

The Petiteens have purchased a scrap book in which to keep memoirs of their meetings.

After the meeting Carl Juergens took pictures of the group.

The hostees served refreshments and Pat Schmidt invited the club to her home on E. Sixth St. for the April 14 meeting.

Fourteen Attend Party For Rosemary Ciotti

Rosemary Ciotti was honored on her ninth birthday Sturday when her mother, Mrs. Frank Ciotti of 543 Columbia St., held a party for her at their home with 14 children present.

Television and games were enjoyed, with prizes awarded Mary Ann Martin, Nancy Ann Oriole and Theresa Juliano.

Table centerpieces were the decorated birthday cake and a large vase of daffodils. The long table was covered with a tablecloth decorated in the birthday motif. Yellow plastic bunnies, trimmed in pastel shades and holding candy, were used as favors.

Mrs. Arthur Fusco and Miss Betty Mingroni, Rosemary's aunt and sister, assisted Mrs. Ciotti in serving.

Rosemary recieved many lovely gifts.

Mrs. Mary Ratscher Given Surprise Party

Friends surprised Mrs. Mary Ratscher at her home on Sharp Ave. Tuesday night with a birthday party in her honor arranged by her daughters Mrs. Ernest Minth and Miss Mary Ratscher.

The guests played bunco and prizes were won by Mrs. Anna Untch, Mrs. John Schenker and Mrs. Thomas Minth.

The group presented Mrs. Ratscher with a gift.

Yellow baskets of candy and nuts were favors when refreshments, featuring a decorated birthday cake with candles, were served.

Mrs. Keck Hostess To Club Members

A spaghetti supper was enjoyed by members of the Socialite Club when they were entertained Wednesday night in the home of Mrs. William Keck of the Albany Rd.

The evening hours were spent in visiting and group singing with piano accompaniment.

Special prizes were awarded to Mrs. Leonard Robbins and Mrs. Gayle Paxson.

The next meeting will be held May 22 at Mrs. Paxson's home on Buckeye Circle.

Will Visit In Europe

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew H. Mahinney and daughter, Peggy, of S. Lincoln Ave., left Tuesday for a six week's tour of Europe.

Another daughter, Ann, has returned to Shippley School at Brynmawr, Pa., after spending the Easter holidays with her parents.

Theresa Furlong And John Beck To Be Wed

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Furlong of RD 1, Salem announce the coming marriage of their daughter, Theresa A. Furlong, to John W. Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Beck of 940 W. State St.

The custom of open church will be observed when Rev. George Keister performs the ceremony at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church. Music will start at 2 o'clock.

Invitations for the wedding and reception have been issued.

Missionary Meeting Features Bible Quiz

A missionary and Bible quiz highlighted a meeting of the Alena Calkins Missionary Society Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs Carl Donley of Washingtonville Rd. Mrs. George Smith had charge of the program.

A prayer by Mrs. Richard Penrose opened the meeting which was presided over by Mrs. Jerry Lippiatt, and roll call was a favorite missionary song.

The present project of the society is making a rug for use in the missionary home in Damascus.

Thank-you notes were received from missionaries Katherine and Everett Cattel.

Mrs. Edwin Jeffries dismissed the group in prayer.

A coverdish dinner has been planned for the May 5 meeting to be held in the home of Mrs. Katherine Iler near Winona.

Mothers Club Sees Movies

Nineteen members of the Progressive Mothers Club, meeting Tuesday were shown three silent movies by Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive secretary of the Columbiana County Public Health League.

"Marriage for Moderns," a picture shown in health classes at high schools, "Survival of Atomic Attack," a civilian defense movie and "Inside Story," a National Tuberculosis Association picture, comprised the educational program.

Mrs. Clarence Wolf of Kenton was a guest and refreshments were served by the co-hostess, Mrs. Clyde Miller.

The April 21 meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Gus Edling of E. Eighth St.

Women's Home League Shown Color Movies

The program for the educational meeting of the Women's Home League of the Salvation Army held Tuesday night in the citadel included colored movies of a trip through Flroida shown by Mrs. Carl Lehwald who emphasized how God can be seen through the beauty of nature.

Leading the devotional service was Mrs. Byren Cain, Home League Chaplain. In observance of the birthday of William Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, she read an article on how work was started on the formation of the organization.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Orval Lake.

Work projects will be held in the citadel all day next Tuesday.

4-H CLUB TO MEET

The Willing 4-H Club will have a re-organization meeting Friday at 8 p.m. at the Willow Grove Grange hall and officers will be elected. Anyone wishing to join the club is urged to attend. Henry Spack is president.

Willow Grove Grange Has Easter Program

Approximately 75 members of Willow Grove Grange held their Easter program Friday evening in the hall. Numerous hymns, skits, readings and recitations were presented. Lecturer is Mrs. Harry Sherwood.

Five candidates were obligated into the first and second degrees: Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Stamp, Miss Anna Mae Umbach, Mrs. George Balta and W. Denny.

Hymns "In the Garden" and "The Old Rugged Cross" were sung by the group. Welcome was extended by Miss Matilda Umbach.

A lighted cross, banked by ferns, palms, and African violets, was placed on the stage. The background was a lattice made of green and white crepe paper.

A tableau, "The First Easter" was enacted by Mrs. Roy Gilliam, Mrs. Bryan Sanor and Mrs. Fred Umbach, with Mrs. Lois Oyer, narrator.

Billy Werner, Lynn Sanor and Kenneth Gilliam presented the play "An Easter Hike."

"Easter Bunnies" was the title of the skit presented by John, Larry and Tommy Sanor, Agnes Madden, Sammy Oyer, Charlene Sherwood, and Jimmy Rogers. Recitation of "Easter Tide" was given by Charlene Sherwood, Daryl Aiken, Neil Stamp, Kathy Oyer, Tommy Sanor and Eleanor Rogers.

Readings, "Easter Chimes," "On Strike," and "Easter Greeting" were given by Ronnie, Jimmy and Billy Sanor, Sandra and Billy Sherwood, Eleanor Rogers, Margie Oyer and Garry Stamp.

A cross was formed by the following girls dressed in white: Charlene and Sandra Sherwood, Kathy and Margie Oyer, Agnes, Lois and Helen Madden, Donette and Iva Sanor, Linda Wolford and Matilda Umbach.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Raymond Oesch and Mrs. Cora Monter.

The next meeting will be April 17 at the hall.

Philathea Class Plans Covered Dish Dinner

Devotions led by Richard Holtsinger opened the meeting of the Philathea Class of the First Friends Church held Tuesday night in the North Ellsworth Ave. home of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Lefler.

Business was discussed and plans were made for a covered-dish dinner to be held May 5 in the church. A committee comprised of Mrs. John Yakubek, Mrs. Jesse Paxson, Mrs. Robert Harshman and Mrs. Robert Todd is in charge of arrangements.

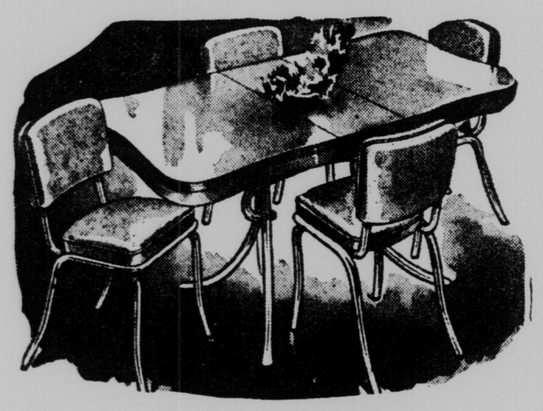

Games provided entertainment and refreshments were served by the hostess.

Women will choose their woolen fashions for spring, 1953, from the widest variety of suitings and coatings ever offered.

For wear in every climate across the country, there are fleece-soft "ermine cloth" coatings, thistle-fleece tweeds, fine wool crepes, flat and dimensional jerseys that are full in body but near-gossamer in weight, flannels ranging from light to tissue, and many worsted suitings in tiny checks and smudged or broken stripes.

We show (left) a thistle-fleece tweed, that's extremely light in weight. Here it's cut into a new version of the "paper doll" look. This is gull-gray herringbone tweed with surplice bodice and plunging neckline. Oval midriff is tightly fitted and wide skirts fall over layers of ruffled petticoat. This is young and fresh in feeling, right for wear all through spring.

Omar Kiam uses a smoke-checked worsted (right) in tissue weight for a stole-topped suit. This has neat, immaculate tailoring with a feminine look. There's just a touch of white cotton at the "V" neckline. Jet buttons are used in double-breast effect on the bodice; detached stole is fringed.

Loyal Women's Class Meets At Church

Members of the Loyal Women's Class of the First Christian Church met Tuesday in the church instead of April 14, which has been set aside for members of the Women's Fellowship of the Christian Church to attend a meeting in the Baptist Church.

78 Postmaster Vacancies Listed In Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are 78 postmaster vacancies in Ohio, a list made public by the civil service commission shows. There are 1,700 such vacancies across the country.

The Postoffice Department has supplied Ohio's 16 GOP congressmen and its two Republican senators with a list of vacancies of interest to them.

By tradition and precedent representatives who belong to the same party as the President are consulted before nominations are made for their districts.

However, where a vacancy occurs in a congressional district not represented by a member of the President's own party, the senators make the recommendations.

There are seven such districts in Ohio with 20 postmaster vacancies.

Only 14 of the Ohio vacancies are first class postmasterships that pay between $5,370 and $13,770 annually, depending on the annual gross receipts.

These are Bellaire, Bowling Green, Bucyrus, Chillicothe, Crestline, Fremont, Mount Vernon, Newcomerstown, Sandusky, Upper Sandusky, Urbana, Wauseon, Willard and Wooster.

Another 26 are second class postmasterships, which pay between $4,770 and $5,070 a year.

These are Batavia, Bellville, Belpre, Brecksville, Burton Byesville, Canal Winchester, Copley, Dresden, Holland, Kingston, Mason, New Concord, New Vienna, North Baltimore, Orwell, Perrysville, Pomeroy, Rockford, Sardinia, Smithville, Stow, Waterville, Wellsville, West Lafayette, and West Unity.

The remainder—38—are in the third class, where the pay ranges from $2,883 to $4,298 a year.

These are at Adelphi, Baltic, Belle Center, Beloit, Bergholz, Beulah Beach, Buffalo, Cairo, Chesterhill, Conover, Creston, Deerfield, East Fultonham, Edison, Goshen, Harrisburg, Holmesville, Jacksonville, Londonderry, Marengo, Marshallville, Midland, Mineral Ridge, Negley, New Westson, North Jackson, Peninsula, Phalanx Station, Racine, Reedsville, Republic, Saint Henry, Stockport, Sycamore, Unionport, West Manchester, Wharton, and Zanesville.

STRIKERS APPEAL TO NLRB

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Striking AFL produce truck drivers Wednesday asked the National Labor Relations Board to conduct an election to determine if the union should be recognized as a bargaining agent for 180 drivers, warehousemen and processors employed by the Columbus produce dealers. The men have been on strike since April 1 in a demand for recognition.

Greenford Christian Church Party Set

GREENFORD — The annual Calendar Party of the Christian Church will be held at the High School Wednesday evening, April 15, beginning at 8. There will be a program followed by lunch. The public is invited.

Proceeds will go for the benefit of the church building fund

The Christian Church is holding revival meetings the week of April 19-26, except Saturday evening. Rev. W. Dale Brock of the Youngstown Hillman Christian Church will preach.

An inspiring sunrise prayer service was held at the Christian Church Easter morning. The Locust Grove choir, and Christian Church choir and with the help of several of the township ministers helped make this service one to be long remembered.

The ladies of the Christian Church who became affiliated with the Christian Women's Fellowship have become organized into two groups; The Christian Women's Worship Group and the Christian Women's Service Group.

Cubs Hike Spring Record To 18-13

Team Sparked By Fondy, Ward

Injury Jinx Hits New York Giants

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

Three years running the Chicago Cubs have won the National League's section of the Grapefruit Circuit. Now they're in a position to do it agtin.

When the Cubs scored their third straight one-run victory over the St. Louis Browns yesterday they boosted their over-all spring record to 18-13. Only Brooklyn with 18-11 and Pittsburgh with 10-6 top the Cubs. And the Pittsburgh mark has been built almost exclusively against minor league clubs.

Dee Fondy and Preston Ward, a pair of long-ball hitting first basemen who once belonged to Brooklyn, have sparked the Cubs' gradual improvement this spring. Ward, particularly, has been impressive since coming out of the Army.

He banged a pair of homers against the Browns in Topeka, Kan., yesterday to run his total to seven in the last 10 games. Fondy, too, is on a homer spree and his circuit blow yesterday was his fourth in three games. The Cubs beat the Browns, 7-6, with the deciding runs coming on still another homer by Bob Addis.

The Cubs have four spring games left—against the Browns in Kansas City today and then three with the White Sox in the Chicago city series starting tomorrow.

Although they have won handily in the spring, the Cubs of the past three seasons have found regular league competition a very different thing. In 1950 they finished seventh. In 1951 they were last and last year they wound up fifth—highest since 1946.

The injury jinx which has struck the major league clubs heavily in the closing weeks of the training season hit the New York Giants again yesterday and benched their No. 1 rookie, Darl Spencer, for at least two weeks.

Spencer was hit in the face with a fast ball thrown by Cleveland pitcher Mike Garcia at Nashville and suffered a minor fracture to his left cheek bone. He had been scheduled to open the season at third base.

Earlier in the spring Garcia hit Bobby Thomson of the Giants on his right hand with a pitched ball, resulting in a minor fracture.

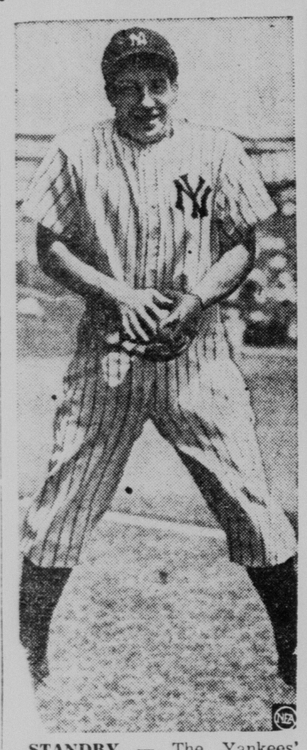

The Giants whipped the Indians, 11-10, despite a four-run Cleveland rally in the ninth.

Gerry Staley, who will open the season for the St. Louis Cardinals, went all the way against the Little Rock Travelers yesterday and shut out the Southern Association club on seven hits, 10-0.

Playing before his homefolks at Richmond, Va., Granny Hamner of the Philadelphia Phils supplied all the runs as the Phils edged the Boston Red Sox, 2-1. Hamner homered over the center field wall in the second and over the right field wall in the fifth.

Brooklyn was blanked for the second time this spring as Bob Porterfield of the Washington Senators gave up only four hits in a night game at Griffith Stadium at Washington. The Senators pounded four Dodger hurlers for 11 hits to win, 7-0.

The White Sox won their sixth in a row at the expense of the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association, 14-0.

STANDBY — The Yankees' hopes for a fifth straight American League pennant again revolve around their remarkable shortstop, Phil Rizzuto.

Dave Gallardo Scores Win Over Bassett

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dave Gallardo said today he hopes his stunning victory over Percy Bassett will get him the money to give his wife and children "the things they deserve."

The 23-year-old Mexican from Los Angeles slashed his way to a unanimous decision over Bassett, interim featherweight boxing champion, in 10 fast rounds, nationally televised, Wednesday night.

Gallardo was a three to one underdog, but—

"I knew this was it," he said. "I came 3,000 miles for this bout and I didn't come here for the plane ride."

The two spent most of the 10 rounds in one corner or another chopping away with short rights and lefts to the head and body.

Snead, Hogan, Mangrum Lead Golf Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Favorites Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead and Ben Hogan led a record field of 73 golf aristocrats into today's opening round of the 17th annual Masters Tournament.

Mangrum, top money winner on the winter circuit, gave the boys something to shoot at when he fired a 9-under-par 63 in practice yesterday. Nobody could recall a lower Masters practice round.

Mangrum, playing out of Niles, Ill., holds the official tournament record of 63, set in 1940.

Eagles on the second and 15th holes helped him put together his 32-31—63 over the rolling 6,900-yard Augusta National Golf Club course.

Snead and Hogan, who now hit only the high spots, were picked by fellow professionals as the men to beat.

Snead is the defending champion and Hogan won in 1951. The field includes all except two of the winners of previous Masters.

Snead hoped to accomplish something no one else has managed—two Masters victories in a row.

Does the selection as a favorite plus the "jinx" against consecutive victories bother the White Sulphur Spring, W. Va., veteran?

"Naw," he drawled. "That doesn't worry me. The course is in the best shape I've ever seen it, and I'm not superstitious. I'll just try to shoot my best game. My practice rounds have been fair. Had a 2 under par today. It's a whole lot different when you ring the bell."

Hogan, the little Texan who won his Masters after recovering from a close brush with death in an auto-bus collision, came here about 10 days early to polish up his game. In semiretirement from tournament play, this will be his first major event since the National Open last June. His best practice round was a 66 last week, and he was under 70 consistently.

The 73 entries, one more than the record established in the inaugural 1934 tourney, includes other such strong contenders as Julius Boros, National Open Champion; Jack Burke, 1952 Masters runner-up; Jim Ferrier; Lew Worsham; Cary Middlecoff; Al Besselink; Tommy Bolt; Doug Ford; and Ted Kroll.

Also on hand are some of the old-timers like Gene Sarazen, Byron Nelson, Chick Evans, Olin Dutra and Horton Smith.

Frick Predicts Formation Of Third League

NEW YORK (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick today predicted formation of a third major league within 10 years but warned that baseball must "decide something" about television pretty soon.

"Very definitely there will be another major league—maybe two—in 10 years," he said in an interview at his Radio City offices. "We must have more towns represented in the major leagues. We can't stand still. The facts speak for themselves. The movement of population is westward."

Frick tempered his enthusiasm for the future with his warning about the TV problem, particularly network television into minor league territory.

"I think the time has come for us to make up our minds about television," he said. "Maybe we have been handicapping ourselves too long."

The majors hurriedly dropped all agreements on league control of radio and TV a couple of years ago when advised such rules might be in violation of federal anti-trust laws. Pro football, which controls TV rights on a league basis, now is involved in a federal suit.

Frick directed his warning against any network telecasts of big league games into minor league cities.

Lakers Hold Lead Over Knickerbockers

NEW YORK (AP)—Unless the New York Knickerbockers find an answer to the Minneapolis Lakers' collapsible defense by Friday night, they can kiss goodbye to their hopes of winning the National Basketball Association's playoffs.

Going into the fifth game of the final series, the Lakers hold an imposing lead of three games to one in the best of seven series. Should the Knicks surprise their fans and win, the series will shift to Minneapolis for the remaining contest or contests.

The defending champions squeezed through Wednesday night, 71-69, as George Mikan's 18-point first quarter provided enough working margin.

Harlem Globetrotters Beat College All-Stars

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The famed Harlem Globetrotters won another game Wednesday night before 35,256 fans, the biggest crowd ever to watch a basketball game in the United States.

They beat the College All-Stars 77-72 in a bruising battle in which the Globetrotters abandoned most of their clowning for serious play. It gave them an 8-5 edge in their 21-game series.

NL Completes Revision Of 1953 Schedule

CINCINNATI (AP) — The National League today completed the job of revising its 1953 schedule — a job made necessary by the moving of the Boston franchise to Milwaukee.

In the main, the changes involved giving Pittsburgh, now in the loop's Eastern Division, the schedule originally arranged for Boston and giving Milwaukee the original Pittsburgh program.

As a result of that, Cincinnati will open its home season against Milwaukee instead of Pittsburgh next Monday. All other season openers will be played April 14 with Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, New York at Philadelphia, St. Louis at Milwaukee and Cincinnati at Chicago.

Another change also will have Milwaukee winding up the season in Cincinnati instead of at home. That was necessary because the team previously had leased the Milwaukee Stadium for Sept 27, the closing day of the season.

Milwaukee will play at Cincinnati, Sept. 26 and 27.

To compensate for loss of those two home dates, the Sept. 19 and 20 Milwaukee at Cincinnati dates were transferred to Milwaukee.

Most of the other schedule changes involved a shifting of dates for night games. Part of those were made necessary because the Braves decided to play 32 night games at Milwaukee instead of 28 as originally planned when the team was in Boston.

J. Neil Stahley Joins Chicago Cardinals

CHICAGO (AP)—Head Coach Joe Stydahar has completed selection of an all-collegiate staff of assistants for the Chicago Cardinals with the hiring of J. Neil (Skip) Stahley.

Stahley, backfield coach at the University of Washington the last three years, will join Dick Gallagher of Santa Clara and Ernie George of the College of Pacific as Stydahar's lieutenants.

Stahley, 43, makes his first coaching start in the National Football League after 23 years on the college level. He served as head coach at the University of Delaware, Brown University, Washington University of St. Louis and the University of Toledo before going to the University of Washington.

Milwaukee Braves To Play Red Sox

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It's Christmas in Milwaukee for thousands of excited baseball fans today as Manager Charlie Grimm unwraps the National League's gift to the city—the Milwaukee Braves.

The weatherman calls for partly cloudy skies but says no rain will crash the fate at Milwaukee's first major league ball game in over half a century.

Milwaukee's new five million dollar stadium will echo for the first time to cheers and catcalls from an anticipated turnout of 20,000 as the Braves meet the Boston Red Sox in an exhibition.

A wildly enthusiastic crowd of 60,000 lined a five-mile parade route Wednesday as the Braves were hauled on display in convertibles through the streets of their new home.

Montreal Canadiens To Play Boston Bruins

MONTREAL (AP) — The Boston Bruins and the Montreal Canadiens take up again tonight the struggle they waged a year ago, only this time it's for the big prize.

Last year the teams wore themselves out in the Stanley Cup semi-final in seven bitter games. Canadiens won out but then lost four straight to the Detroit Red Wings.

This year the Bruins and the Canadiens are in the final. The Bruins got there by upsetting Detroit in six games. The Canadiens took seven to get past Chicago's Black Hawks.

Pittsburgh Hornets, Barons Clash Tonight

PITTSBURGH (AP)—King Clancy, worried coach of the Pittsburgh Hornets, hopes for a bit of luck tonight when his team plays the Cleveland Barons in the third game of the American Hockey League's Calder cup series.

The Barons, fresh from two consecutive wins on their home ice, need two more victories in the best of seven playoffs to make a clean sweep of league honors. Cleveland won the regular league championship and is out to cop the Calder Cup it lost to the Hornets last season.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By R. L. LIDE

Fishing has not been good up to now in public waters in Columbiana county due to rains.

High water followed by siltation has made conditions poor. A warm rain and clearing conditions in the streams should liven up the fish. Suckers are on the move in the smaller tributaries. Many are being taken by spearing a new method now legal in Ohio.

White horse suckers up to two and a half pounds are being taken. The speed with which they move up the riffles indicate they are not yet ready to spawn. Later in the season they will remain more stationary and become an easier target.

Large Carppies up to 14 inches in length are now beginning to bite at Andy's Landing at Guilford Lake. Towards evening is the better time to go after them. The outstanding stringer of fish taken up to present writing was taken by Mrs. Herbert Palmer of East Canton.

One days catch netted her 17 perch averaging 12 inches in length, 5 suckers 16 inches and an assortment of blue gills and pumpkinseed sunfish.

The lake is beginning to fill up to normal level. It was necessary to lower the water last winter in order for the parks section to do some necessary dredging to begin an improvement program for the public benefit.

Now is the time of the year duck hunters who cannot identify the various species can do some close observing. There are many handbooks and pamphlets available that will help. A pair of field glasses also gives a closer view. Ducks that seldom ever frequent this area can be seen in large numbers.

Outstanding among them are red heads and canvas backs. Both ducks appear very similar but the high forehead on the red head makes him distinctly different.

During the spring migration from the south to tseir northern nesting grounds ducks can be seen on most any pond or lake in this country. Their northward migration in the fall does not include this area. A lone whistling swan was seen on Zeppernick's Lake.

And speaking of ducks, they sometimes create a vegetation nuisance by spreading duck weeds. As they fly from pond to pond these minute plants cling to their feet and are deposited in some ponds free of such a vegetation pest. Close examination of this weed reveals a group of tiny fleating ovals, green above and purple beneath with a tuft of white hair like roots beneath.

—:—

The delicious spring morel or sponge mushrooms are beginning to come up. The morel mushroom excels all other fungi in taste and food value. People lucky enough to find more than they need for one meal string them together and let them dry out. When ready to be eaten they are placed in water and allowed to soak. Then they resume their spongy, moist form.

—:—

Remember our first true Americans were Indians. They took only what they needed for food. We can take a lesson from the Indians and be better sportsmen.

All Army Cage Tourney Is Set

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—Ft. Sill, Okla. and Ft. Belvoir, Va., undefeated in the playoffs, take the spotlight in the first of today's three games in the All Army basketball tournament.

Ft. Sill's attempt to topple the tourney favorite gets underway this afternoon. The only four other remaining teams in the double elimination contest will follow, Camp Roberts, Calif., facing Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., and the Camp Breckinridge, Ky., quint taking on Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

In Wednesday's action, former All America star Dick Groat scored 32 points as Belvoir turned back Breckinridge, 90-77.

But the day's biggest effort, and high for the tourney, was Joe Smythe's 43 points in First Cavalry Division's 78-71 loss to Ft. Monmouth.

Fine Weather Brings Track Team Outside

Finally getting a break from the weather, Coach Frank J Tarr of the Salem track team had his cindermen working outdoors Tuesday and Wednesday.

After working inside for more than two weeks, Tarr took the squad outdoors and down to Reilly stadium to get the feel of the track.

Tuesday, the workouts were limited to running 440-yard relays with each of four men running 110 yards. Although there is no such event in a regular meet, Tarr felt that anything longer than 110 yards on the first night outside would be too risky.

Last night, Tarr and his assistant, Karl Zellers, broke the squad down into individual events, and ran time trials. For so early in the year, most of the times were pretty good, Tarr reported.

In addition to timing most of his athletes, Tarr experimented to find the best combinations for the various relay teams.

The jumpers and vaulters also began practice since the pits are now in fine shape.

Severely pressed for time, Tarr has to develop his team speedily because the first meet is less than a week away. Salem opens their season at 4 p.m. next Tuesday with a dual meet against Niles.

Ernie Lombardi Slashes Throat In Suicide Try

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Ernie Lombardi, former major and Pacific Coast League catcher, was found with his throat slashed from ear to ear Wednesday night.

His wife, Berice, and Deputy Sheriffs Floyd Harrison and Edward Brosnan said Lombardi resisted their first attempt to rush him to a hospital, yelling "let me die!"

Highland Hospital authorities said they did not expect the husky ex-major leaguer to live. He had lost a great amount of blood.

Mrs. Lombardi said her husband had been despondent the past week and had threatened to take his life. She said she was accompanying him to Livermore, Calif., Sanitarium when he asked to stop and visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Ness in Castro Valley.

Ernie, 45, said he felt ill, wanted to lie down and went into a bedroom. A little later she found him with his throat slashed. A single edge razor blade was on the floor.

He resisted her efforts to help him, and later resisted the deputies.

Lombardi had been operating a liquor store in nearby San Leandro, Calif., since retiring from baseball in 1948. In his last active year, he played for the Oakland Oaks, helping them win their first coast league championship in 20 years.

Lombardi, a 6 foot, 2 inch-power hitter, played for the Cincinnati Reds, Boston Braves and New York Giants during a long and colorful major league career.

He won the National League batting crown in 1942 while playing with the Boston Braves, clubbing out a .331 average in 105 games.

In 1938, when he was with the Cincinnati Reds, Lombardi was voted the National League's most valuable player.

He also won the NL batting title that year with .342.

Despite his hitting, Lombardi, familiarly known as "Schnozz," is perhaps best known for his "coma' behind the plate while catching for Cincinnati in the 10th inning of the fourth and last game of the 1939 World Series against the New York Yankees.

This was the situation at Cincinnati that Oct. 8, 1939.

The score was tied, 4-4, with tha Yanks at bat in the top of the 10th. With two on and one out Joe DiMaggio singled to score one run. Ival Goodman, Cincinnati rightfielder fumbled the ball, but recovered in time to throw to the plate in an effort to get Charley Keller.

The ball beat Keller to the plate, but "King Kong' bumped into Lombardi hard. The ball slipped out of Lombardi's grasp and Keller scored.

The ball rolled about five feet to one side. Lombardi, apparently stunned, made no effort to get it. DiMaggio kept running and slid home while Lombardi lay on the ground.

Teams From East In Bowling Contest

CHICAGO (AP) — High scoring teams from the east will take the spotlight in the American Bowling Congress tournament today from New York state trying their luck on the 40 new alleys.

The teams are Hamms' Beer of Lockport, N. Y., with Allie Brandt, who holds the national record of 886 for a three game sanctioned total, and the Wagner & Adler five of New York City. The Hamms have a 975 average while the Wagner & Adler team averages 990.

Eighty booster and 40 regular division teams failed to change the standings Wednesday.

Indians To Travel Leisurely In Exhibition Tour Next Spring

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP) — Next spring's Giants-Indians exhibition tour is going to be more leisurely, Indians traveling Secretary Spud Goldstein says.

Many of the players are absolutely bushed from the pace, and by Saturday morning will have spent 10 consecutive nights sleeping on the train.

"Next spring we plan to spend two or three days in every town" said Goldstein, "and we may book games in places like Houston, Dallas, New Orleans and Oklahoma City."

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez conceded the team is a "little train weary" but thinks a couple of good nights' rest will have the Indians in shape for the opener Tuesday.

The Giants' fine rookie third baseman, Daryl Spencer, was left behind in Nashville's St. Thomas Hospital to recover from the injuries he received when a fast ball thrown by Mike Garcia hit him in the face Wednesday in the first inning.

The hospital said nine stiches were required. He broke his left cheek bone and his lips were cut.

Dr. Cleo Miller, a physician called from the stands, said he showed no sign of brain injury and thought he would be able to play in about two weeks.

Garcia, obviously upset, had to sit on the bench for a while to collect himself before returning to the mound. He was belted for 12 hits and eight runs in four innings.

The Indians, trailing 11-6 going into the ninth, rallied and scored four runs, including a three-run 400-foot homer by Al Rosen. But that ended it and the Giants won, 11-10.

Taylor, Samford, Worthington Are 'Farmed Out' By Giants

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—It says in the paper that the New York Giants have sent outfielder Bill Taylor, infield Ronnie Samford and pitcher Al Worthington, among other players, to their Minneapolis farm team. Their names sound faintly familiar.

Taylor? Now we remember. He was that great big fellow just out of the service who could hit a baseball a country mile. He was the talk of the camp for the first week at Phoenix. Almost every time he came up he either hoisted one far and away over the right field fence or slashed a double into the open spaces.

"There's this much for certain—he can really hit that ball," said Manager Leo Durocher. "With that big bat and the way he swings, all he needs is to get a piece of it. That short right field wall of ours is built for him. He could give what I need out there.'

For quite a time, we recall, the handsome ex-soldier played right field every day and the boys began to speculate on what would become of Don Mueller, the splash hitter who had previously owned the job. The only thing was, they noticed, that Taylor seemed to take an awful long time getting to first and that he had difficulty locating line drives.

Worthington? Ah, yes, that was the youngster who wasn't even on the club's official roster—a sleeper if there ever was one. We won't forget the evening that Frank Shellenback, the Giants' astute and vastly respected pitching coach, told of his find.

"Don't overlook this kid,' he warned. "He could be the surprise of the year. He couldn't throw a ball straight if he wanted to. Everything he throws has something on it, and usually a lot. All he's got to do is get it over the plate and nobody's going to hit him. I'm anxious for him to get a chance to show you what he can do.'

Unfortunately, we missed the Worthington debut a few days later, but checked up anxiously to find if the youngster had forced the opposition to fan the high Arizona air. Turned out he hadn't. Something to do with lack of control, but his pitches had, indeed, jumped and swerved and given his catcher a bad time. We were advised to wait until next time.

Samford? Why, sure, he was the little pepperpot second baseman who teamed so brilliantly with Daryl Spencer at Minneapolis last season and was going to nail down at least a utility job with the parent team. Every time he got in there in the late innings he looked like a million dollars and evoked stirring praise from Durocher.

What Taylor, Worthington and Samford have been doing with themselves lately we wouldn't know. Anyway, they had their respective days, and maybe all of them will be back.

It's baseball.

Hornsby Says Reds Greatly Improved

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Manager Rogers Hornsby, firm in his belief his Cincinnati Reds have the most improved team in the National League, brought the club in here today for a scheduled exhibition game against the Detroit Tigers.

Three consecutive days of cancellations left the Redleg pilot champing at the bit to get his team back into action. Wednesday's game between the Reds and the Tigers at Charleston, W. Va., was cancelled because of wet grounds.

The cancellation made it possible for most of the Cincinnati players to stop off in Cincinnati while enroute here.

"I'm confident we can move up a notch or two in the standings if we can avoid injuries to key players and the pitching proves to be as good as I think it is," Hornsby said.

"I know we have a better balanced club, plus considerably more power than when I took over early last August. In fact, I believe we have improved more than any club in our league."

Hornsby planned to give Columbus fans a look at Bud Podbielan, whom he named as his starting pitcher for Monday's opening game of the regular season against Milwaukee.

Atlanta, Ga. Man Indicted In Ohio Holdup

ATLANTA (AP)—An Atlanta Negro, under indictment in a $14,000 holdup of an Ohio produce dealer in January of 1950, has been taken into custody, police say.

They identified the man as Hinton Favors, and officers said he was arrested with Frances Lee Head, a Negro woman also indicted in the robbery case.

Victim of the robbery was Clarence J. Knittle of 58 Marshall St., Norwalk, O. Knittle told officers he was robbed by a Negro couple he had admitted to his automobile in order to let them show him how to get on to a nighway to Florida.

Much of the stolen money was recovered from a fruit jar at Favors' home in Cleveland, O, shortly after the theft, police said. Extradition from Ohio was refused at the time and the arrest was not made until Favors returned here from California after completing a year's sentence as a parole violator.

Bank Employe Charged With Embezzlement

CINCINNATI (AP)—Carl J. Schaeper, who had worked for the Norwood-Hyde Park Bank & Trust Co. for 35 years, was arrested here Wednesday on a charge of embezzlement of $7,787.50 from the bank.

Schaeper, who told FBI agents he had taken the money "off and on" since 1949 to finance a new home, waived a preliminary examination when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan and his bond was fixed at $1,000 pending court action.

The FBI and attorneys for the bank said full restitution already has been made to the bank, at least part of the money having been put up by Schaeper's relatives.

Bullet Missing In Murder Case

CIRCLEVILLE, O. (AP)—A mystery bullet entered the case Wednesday of Mary Agnes Ruff, 34, on trial for the murder of her husband Daniel, 35, a South Bloomfield farmer.

Coroner Ray Carroll said only two of the three bullets which entered Ruff's head last Jan. 15 were found. The third bullet is still missing, despite an exhaustive search, he said.

The state called five witnesses to set the scene of the shooting at the Ruff home where his body was found. One of them, Erville Thomas, a school bus driver, said he was attracted to the house by calls from Ruff's mother and sister from an upstairs window after the body was found.

Other witnesses included two photographers and a milk truck driver.

7 British Subjects Are Freed By Reds

TOKYO (AP) — The Pyongyang radio late tonight said the North Korean government had freed seven British subjects for repatriation to Russian representatives at Antung in Southern Manchuria.

The announcement was made by the North Korean Foreign Ministry.

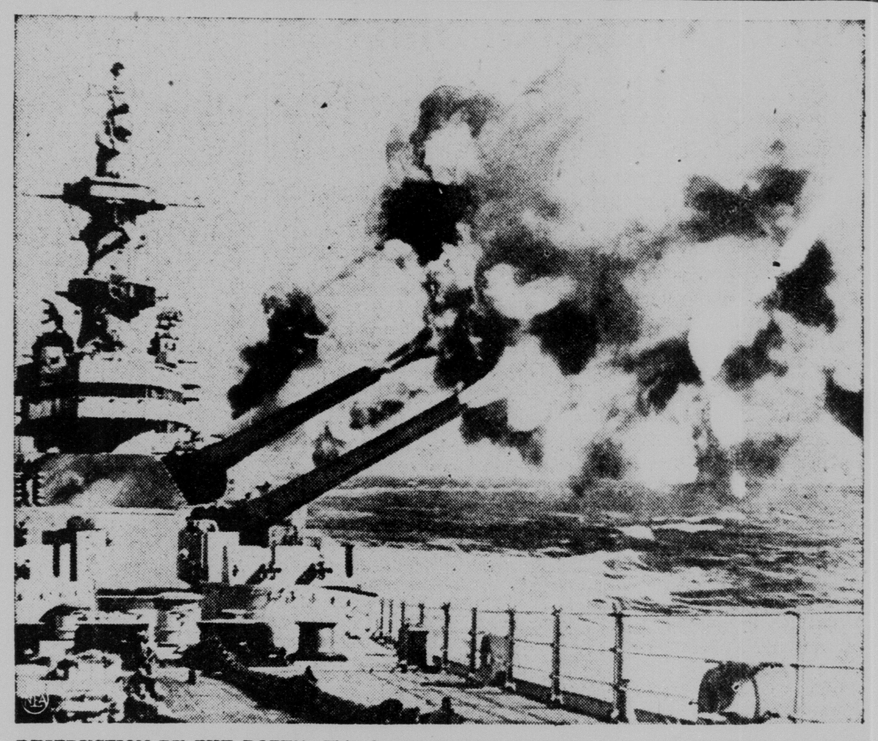

The broadcast, monitored by Radio Press agency here, identified the seven as:

The British minister to Seou, a British vice consul in Seoul, the first secretary of the British Seoul legation, a correspondent, a missionary and a Salvation Army worker.

Their names were not available.

The radio said the North Korean government has "agreed with the Soviet request of March 3 for the release of the seven."

A seventh identity was missing.

Restaurant Future Bright, Says Owner

CLEVELAND (AP)—In Leon Keuning's opinion, the restaurant business has a bright future because he thinks more and more people will be eating out.

Kuenning, a Columbus man elected president Wednesday night of the Ohio State Restaurant Association, says:

"Modern homes and apartments are being built without dining rooms. This means that when families entertain the trend will be towards eating out."

The association, which closes its 34th annual convention today, also elected these officers:

Chester Wagner of Eaton, first vice president; Mrs. Grace R. Frick, Cleveland, second vice president; Frank Braun, Springfield, third vice president; Lloyd Ballenger, Columbus, treasurer.

Howard E. Robson of Coshocton was elected a director to a three-year term.

Jury To Report

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The sickle is finally losing its glamor.

And just when the Soviets need it most. Right when it's smack in the middle of what Secretary Dulles and Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther reveal is Russia's "major effort to isolate the U. S. from its allies" in Europe.

At this moment, our AFL Hollywood stars, producers, directors and technical craftsmen, operating through the AFL's Parisian office, have whipped together a new crusade in Europe with the specific approval of the man who sparked the last one—Gen. Eisenhower.

Working in flying squads with such European friends of America as producers Roberto Rosselini and the venerable anti-fascist novelist, Ignace Silore, are such filmland celebrities as Gene Kelly, Humphrey Bogart, John Huston, and others now shooting on the continent.

AIM OF their fight is to smash the seething, but subtle Soviet campaign to seduce our military allies and cultural forces in Europe into an era of good feeling in which the past will be forgotten.

Just as the Russians hope their peace lures will stall the NATO Army, so they seek to prevent us from crystalizing pro-American sentiment through such units in Europe as the AFL's Free Trade Union Committee and the Friends of Freedom. Our nation's entire diplomatic offensive now is aimed at holding our lines in the face of the seemingly receding military threat. This means a continued propaganda war.

The Communists are maintaining their anti-American press, fronts and other apparatus, while sweet talking our European friends into believing it is no longer necessary to keep similar pro-American units alive.

However, now the pro-U. S. intellectual and cultural forces are on the offensive—since, for the first time, they have a central headquarters in Paris—the one supplied by the AFL. This was fully described to President Eisenhower last week by its representative, Irving Brown.

FOR THE FIRST time we're actually taking from the Communist side the glamorous actors, writers and cultural leaders who were really a military force since they can swing a nation towards, or away from, a preparedness psychology. And to have our continental friends believe the time has come for all good men to minimize the menace of the Communist party could be militarily disastrous some day.

So the initial move in the pro-U. S. group's counter-offensive will be a big Parisian demonstration featuring Huston, Kelly (who has been taking to the air with assaults on Soviet anti-Semitism) and Bogart, among others.

To this rally will be invited French movie stars and writers who have innocently been caught up in covert Communist maneuvers just as some of our Hollywood artists were snared in the 30's.

These French creative people will get a new slant on America from their own kind of professional talent, talking to them as members of trade unions (which the continentals respect highly) on the fight against the Commies in Hollywood. This task has been assigned to hoofer-director Kelly.

THE RALLY was planned recently at a luncheon called by the AFL people in Europe. Gathered around the table then were Huston, Ignace Silone and the AFL officials.

Later they took Huston to a parley with the general-secretary of the pro-American Friends of Freedom. There they started a second project—a European premiere of "Moulin Rouge," to which will be asked virtually the entire continental cultural world.

The point is to show that we Americans aren't the vacuous idiots the Russian propagandists try to paint us—and to establish a personal relationship with the hitherto doubting Europeans.

At the same time there is parallel activity here. All U. S. unions having anything to do with the movies or the theater are being approached by labor men who want to start an International Alliance of Film Labor.

THESE WILL include the teamsters, the musicians, the movie projectionists and all other studio talent and craft unions.

Then, when ready, they will organize an international conference—out of which may come, along with other strategem, a world boycott of Communist films.

Once the European artists and intellectuals are convinced that the Communist movie unions abroad can no longer terrorize them by keeping them from working, the back of one of the Soviet's most costly and valuable propaganda machines will be broken.

Without its glamor, the sickle will have no hammer with which to beat our allies into intellectual submission. And that's worth 50 army divisions to America in this war of nerves.

Hot Day For Firemen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—It was a warm day for the visiting firemen here yesterday.

While fire chiefs from 60 Alabama communities held their state convention, separate blazes broke out in homes just across the streets from two fire stations.

The second fire badly damaged the residence of John A. Stringer, a fireman.

SUFFICATES BENEATH CAR

HAMILTON, O. (AP) — Clifford Straub, 67, was pinned beneath his automobile here Wednesday and suffocated. Dr. Garret Boone, Butler County coroner, said Straub was working under the car and it rolled back against him in such a manner he was unable to breathe.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rupert have named their daughter, Leslie Ann.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dillon and son of Washington, D. C., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baughman of Beaver, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rhoads of Kent, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bowker, Betty Bowker and Jessie Dicken of East Palestine were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bowker.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Mossmen of Cheswick, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mossmen of East Liverpool, and Mrs. Letty Hooks of Kittaning Pa. were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sitler.

Sam Sitler, who is attending college at Indiana Tech Fort Wayne, Indiana, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sitler.

Danny and Phillip Henderson of Salem spent the past week with relatives here.

Joan Fegert of Freemont and Mrs. Louis Smith of Adrain, Mich., spent the past week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Fegert.

SENTENCED IN MAIL CASE

CINCINNATI (AP) — Orville R. Ferguson, 35, of 1111 Eleventh St., Portsmouth, pleaded guilty in U. S. District Court here Wednesday to stealing from the mails in order to obtain money for a Boy Scout troop of which he was the leader. Judge John H. Druffel, calling it a "Robin Hood case,' gave Ferguson a two-year suspended sentence.

School Supt. C. Otis Castro estimated the damage at $125,000.

DIES OF TRUCK INJURIES

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Mary Louise Nelson, 5, of Zanesville, died in a Columbus hospital Wednesday night of injuries suffered when she was hit by a truck near her home Wednesday.

Florida Judge Accused Of Tax Evasion

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A Circuit Court judge testified the practice of law had been so distasteful to him for 35 years that he invested in race tracks and a cocktail lounge in an effort to find a way out of the legal profession.

The federal government claims Judge Vincent C. Giblin of Miami owes $21,866 in income taxes for 1945.

The Miami jurist contends the government erred in disallowing a $31,668 deduction he took as a business loss in operating the Stag Bar, Inc., a cocktail lounge now out of business.

Government attorneys argued that the money Giblin sank in the venture was capital and that the loss was not deductible from income taxes.

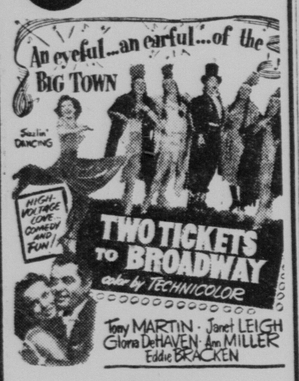

Giblin told Federal Judge Clarence P. Lemire that the practice of law had been "distastful" to him ever since he was admitted to the bar at Pensacola, Fla., in 1918.

He said he "ruined" his civil law practice in the 1930s when he became an associate counsel for gangster Al Capone.

Giblin said that in casting about for an "avenue of escape" which would enable him to abandon the practice of law altogether he also invested money in such ventures as a horse race track at Pompano, Fla., a dog track at Camden, N. J., and a Miami restaurant.

Giblin campaigned for the State Supreme Court last year but was defeated in a close election. He testified that his appointment to the Circuit Court gave him a chance to get out of law practice and he turned down a $50,000 legal fee he had just been offered in order to accept the appointment as judge.

Try Pot Roast The Swedish Way

The Swedes in Minnesota like substantial food. Certainly their pot roast, in this Americanized version, will bring satisfaction to any American family gathered around the Sunday dinner table.

Swedish Pot Roast with Noodles

Three and one half to 4 pound pot roast
3 tablespoons lard
2 medium onions (sliced)
1 clove garlic (minced)
1 teaspoon salt
½ pint sour cream (1 cup)
1 cup water
4-ounce package noodles

In a Dutch oven or other heavy utensil, melt lard and in it lightly brown onion and garlic. Push to one side. Rub meat with salt and brown well. Combine sour cream with water and pour over meat. Top meat with onions and garlic, cover and cook over low heat for 2½ hours, or until tender.

Remove roast, skim off all but 4 tablespoons fat. Into fat, stir 4 tablespoons flour, gradually add 2 cups bouillon of water and the sour cream mixture spooned from top of roast. Cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Season to taste with salt, pepper and paprika. Serve sauce on cooked noodles

Hungry for a budget treat? Then try this combination:

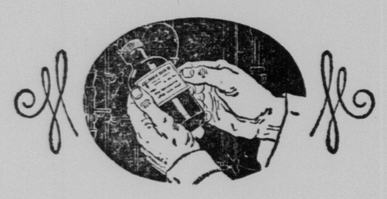

Franks with Corn
(4 servings)

One pound frankfurters
¼ cup bacon drippings, butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
3 cups whole kernel corn (2 12-ounce cans)

Heat fat in a large skillet and in it lightly brown onions and green pepper. Drain corn and add. Split frankfurters lengthwise, almost but not quite through; place on top of corn. Cover and cook over low heat for 20 minutes.

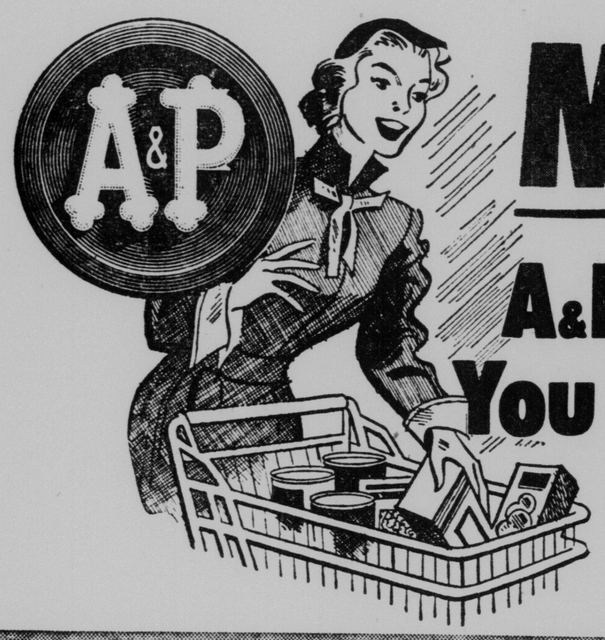

Arrange small canned sardines on buttered toast; sprinkle heavily with grated cheddar cheese; put under broiler just until cheese is bubbly. These snacks are good to serve with hot cream of tomato soup for lunch.

the best health insurance

DO NOT FEEL that you must be sick before you consult a physician. Preventive medicine is the medical watchword of today. The physician is more concerned in keeping you in good health than in finding you ill. A periodic physical examination is the best form of health insurance you can buy. If your physician thinks you need medicine, he will prescribe it. You can do no better than to bring your prescription to us for prompt, professional service.

Cheese Soups Make A Meal

Here are three versions of cheese soups, based on French-Swiss ideas but simplified to eliminate long cooking and the need for great skill. You'll enjoy them—they are a meal in themselves when garnished with garlic croutons and spring greens and served with mixed garden salad and hot bread.

Chicken Cheese Soup
(4 servings)

One can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
1½ cups milk
½ cup shredded sharp process cheese
dash pepper

Combine all ingredients, heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Pour into heated soup bowls and garnish with croutons if desired.

Celery-Cheese Soup
(4 servings)

One can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of celery soup
1½ cups milk
½ cup shredded sharp process cheese.
dash pepper

Combine all ingredients; heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Pour into heated soup bo ls and garnish with croutons and watercress.

Mushroom-Cheese Soup
(4 servings)

One can (1¼ cups) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1½ cups milk
½ cup shredded sharp process cheese
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
dash pepper

Combine all ingredients; heat, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Pour into heated soup bowls and garnish with croutons and finely sliced spring onions (scallions).

When you are making mincemeat pie, be sure to put some slits in your top crust, so steam can escape. Serve hot with melted American cheese.

Bake Yams In Butter

For a pleasant change, let your sweet potatoes just be themselves, naturally sweet. Sweet potatoes are well-named, afetr all, and yams are just unusually sweet sweet potatoes. The sweetness is always present whether the yams be candied, fried, fluffed, or baked in butter.

Here is a special dish based on a sharp, happy clash of flavors, the reverse of candying or syrup glazing.

Buttler-Baked Yams

Four to 6 medium Louisiana yams
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
2 tablespoons hot water
white pepper

Parboil yams in their skins 10 minutes, or longer if they are larger than medium. Peel, trim and arrange in a baking dish. Using a straight, sharp knife, carefully slice the potatoes roundwise, leaving the edges at bottom uncut. Brush butter thoroughly between slices and dust with fine, white pepper. Add a little hot water to the dish and set in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.)

Bake 30 minutes or a little longer if necessary, brushing frequently with butter in the dish. (For each extra potato to be served, add 1 tablespoon melted fat).

While we're on a "sweet" subject let's continue through to dessert.

One-half cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup yams (canned or fresh)
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
1½ teaspoons allspice
½ cup pineapple juice (2-3 cup juice if fresh yams are used).

Cream butter and sugar, add the eggs and beat. Add sweet potato, salt. Beat well. Mix flour with dry ingredients, sift together, gradually adding to yam mixture alternately with pineapple juice. Beat again. Bake in well-greased 8x8x2-inch pan in moderate oven 350 degrees F. for 50 minutes.

Dust with confectioner's sugar or spread with favorite frosting, preferably orange or pineapple flavored.

BAKE EGGS IN SAUCE

One 11-ounce can meatless tomato sauce
8 eggs
¼ cup grated cheddar cheese (lightly packed)

Divide tomato sauce among 4 individual heat-resistant glass pie plates or shirred egg dishes. Break eggs, one at a time, into a saucer and slide 2 eggs on top of tomato sauce in each of the pie plates or shirred egg dishes. Sprinkle with grated cheese, covering as much of the egg yolks as possible. Bake in a slow oven (325 F) until eggs are firm through — about 25 minutes. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Deviled Ham Is Good Spread

A few sandwiches with a decided lift, a dish of fresh fruit and a beverage will make a good spring luncheon. That's where deviled ham comes in—has a delightful flavor, is easy to spread, especially when combined with a little mayonnaise.

In Boston, recently, where one of the best brands of deviled ham is canned, we learned how to turn out these really distinctive sandwiches.

Deviled Ham 'Burgers
(Makes 3 'burger sandwiches)

Three soft hamburger rolls
mustard
1 can deviled ham
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 tomato cut in 3 thick slices
onion rings
thin slices dill pickle
onion rings

Spread bottom halves of slit hamburger rolls with mustard, then with combined deviled ham and mayonnaise. Pyramid with a slice of tomato, several thin slices pickle and an onion ring or two. Add remaining half of roll. Serve with a side of catsup or chili sauce.

Deviled Rabbit
(Makes 4 servings)

Four slices bread
mustard
1 can deviled ham
4 thick slices sharp cheese
4 tablespoons heavy cream

Bread may be toasted or not, as desired. Spread bread slices with mustard, then with generous layer deviled ham. Place slice of cheese on each and top off with a spoonful of heavy cream over each slice of cheese. Broil until cheese melts and bubbles or place on pan in hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 10 minutes, or until cheese melts. Serve hot.

Red Devil Puffs

Four slices bread
1 can deviled ham
1 egg white
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
½ teaspoon hot prepared mustard

Spread bread with generous layer deviled ham. Beat egg-white stiff, then slowly beat in mayonnaise and mustard. Heap spoonfuls of mixture on deviled ham layer and spread evenly. Bake in a hot oven (475 degrees F.) about 5 minutes, or until puffed and brown. Serve at once.

LEMON GLAZED CARROTS

1 bunch (7 to 10) medium sized carrots
½ cup boiling water
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup lemon juice (1 large lemon)
4 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Pare or scrape carrots and cut into coin-shaped slices about ⅛-inch thick. Put in small saucepan and pour water over them; add salt, cover and cook rapidly until barely tender — about 5 minutes Remove carrots with slotted spoon. To liquid remaining in saucepan, add lemon juice, sugar and butter; stir until sugar is dissolved. Boil gently, stirring several times, until sauce is reduced to about ¼ cup. Add cooked carrots and reheat rapidly, watching carefully, until sauce is almost entirely reduced and carrots are glazed; this will take only a few minutes. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Add leftover cooked green peas or snap beans to cream of mushroom or chicken soup for lunch. If you use the beans, dice them before adding.

Try Poppy Seed Crust

Between the high cost of living and the seemingly endless days of winter, menus can easily become humdrum. Now's the time, then, to make an extra effort to have meals pleasant and settings attractive. This lemon chiffon pie with its nut-like flavored crust is one way to brighten the outlook during the dreary days ahead.

LEMON CHIFFON PIE WITH POPPY SEED CRUST

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 cup sugar
½ cup lemon juice
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add ½ cup of the sugar, lemon juice and salt to beaten egg yolks. Cook in double boiler until custard consistency, stirring constantly. Add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Add grated lemon rind. Cool.

When mixture just begins to set, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, to which the remaining one-half cup sugar has been added. Turn into poppy seed crust and chill until firm. Just before serving pie may be garnished on top with whipped cream and a sprinkle of poppy seeds.

Poppy Seed Crust:

Crush 2 cups graham cracker crumbs. Cream ½ cup butter or margarine until soft.

Beat in ¼ cup sugar and 1-3 cup poppy seeds. Work in crumbs. Pat mixture firmly onto bottom and sides of 9-inch pie pan. Bake in moderately slow oven (325 F.) 8-10 minutes. Let stand until cold before adding filling.

SPICED APRICOTS

One No 2½ can (syrup pack) whole unpeeled apricots
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
1-3 cup cider vinegar
two 2-inch sticks cinnamon
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 teaspoon whole allspice

Drain syrup from apricots into saucepan. Add brown sugar, vinegar, cinnamon, cloves and allspice. Stir over moderate heat until sugar is dissolved. Bring to a boil; boil 5 minutes; watch carefully because syrup boils over easily. Add apricots, reduce heat and simmer (do not boil) 5 minutes. Cool at room temperature, then chill. Drain and insert one of the cloves from the syrup in each apricot. Makes 6 servings.

Strain syrup left from apricots and discard spice. Refrigerate syrup and use as a baste when baking ham.

8 ounces (2 cups) elbow macaroni
1 cup thinly sliced onion rings
2 cups (½ pound) grated cheddar cheese
1 14½ ounce can evaporated milk
1 teaspoon salt
pepper
paprika

Add 1 tablespoon salt to rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander. In a large bowl, mix onion, cheese, evaporated milk, salt and pepper (to taste); stir in drained macaroni. Turn into 1½-quart casserole; sprinkle with paprika; cover. Bake in moderate (350F) oven 30 minutes. Makes 6 hearty servings.

Pudding Is Nourishing

In spite of being calorie-conscious, most of us still take great delight and pleasure indulging our appetites with desserts. Many are eaten for the joy of tasting, but others, like this Danish rice pudding, are good eating and contribute food value to the meal as well.

DANISH RICE PUDING

2-3 cup pre-cooked rice
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ cup chopped blanched almonds
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 No. 2½ can pitted bing cherries, drained
1½ cups cherry juice
5 tablespoons corn starch.

Combine rice and milk in saucepan. Mix just until all rice is moistened. Cook, covered, over low heat 15 minutes, fluffing rice occasionally with a fork. Remove from heat; add salt, sugar, almonds and vanlla. Chill. Fold in whipped vanilla. Chill 20 minutes longer. Serve with warm cherry sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Cherry Sauce: Blend 2 tablespoons cherry juice with cornstarch. Combine remaining juice and cornstarch mixture in saucepan. Cook until thickened and clear, about 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add cherries. Serve Warm. Makes about 3 cups sauce.

STUFFED PEACH SALAD

6 canned cling peach halves
1 ripe banana
½ cup lightly drained canned crushed pineapple salad greens
tart French dressing

Drain peaches thoroughly. Peel and dice banana; mix lightly with pineapple. Arrange peaches on salad greens and heap cavities with banana-pineapple mixture. Serve with tart French dressing. Makes 3 to 6 servings.

When you are serving fresh orange juice for breakfast, save the empty halves and notch the edges with a small sharp knife. They make pretty containers for whole cranberry sauce at dinner! Serve the cranberry-filled orange halves with poultry or pork.

LIME WHIP

1 pkg. lime-flavor gelatin
1 cup very hot water
¾ cup cold water
2 tablespoons strained lemon juice
1 egg white
2 tablespoons sugar
green maraschino cherries (if desired)

Sprinkle gelatin over very hot water in mixing bowl and stir until dissolved. Stir in cold water and lemon juice. Chill until gelatin just begins to thicken. With rotary beater, beat egg white until foamy; gradually beat in sugar until peaks form. Without washing beater, beat gelatin mixture until frothy; fold in beaten egg whites. Spoon into individual dessert dishes. Chill until serving time. Garnish with green maraschino cherries cut to resemble petals if desired. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LAMB GRILL

Combine lamb patties and pineapple in this tempting way. Arrange the bacon wrapped patties, about 1 inch thick, on the broiler rack so that the top surface is 2 inches from the heat. Place pineapple rings on the broiler rach alongside the meat. When the patties are brown, place the browned side down on the grilled pineapple slices and finish cooking.

Heat canned peach halves under the broiler, put a dab of currant jelly in each cavity, and serve with baked ham or with pork chops.

Home Dressed Meats Always

Anybody can put purple ink on beef and call it grading, but there are very few markets who can afford to guarantee every pound of meat they sell as we do. Very few people can tell by looking at meat what quality it is—but when they roast or broil it for the table, the proof is in the eating! Feeding our own steers, we are trying to produce tender, tasty meat without the wasty fat that must be on ordinary meat to be good. So try our meat because you are not gambling, as every pound is guaranteed to satisfy or your money will be refunded.

Town Employes Get Pay Boost

Council's Action Ups Service Cost $16,000

COLUMBIANA — Columbiana council passed out wage increases to village employes at its meeting Tuesday evening that will boost to about $16,000 the added expense of village services above what they were two or three years ago.

Council also ordered drafted for consideration at the next meeting an ordinance providing that both Friday and Saturday shall be parking meter nights because some of the business places have not changed to Saturday night closing.

Some members expressed the fear that street maintenance and repairs may have to be curtailed as a result of the wage increases.

The present wage scale, adopted Feb. 5, 1952, boosted to $12,000 the added costs of services to the municipality, and the pay increases voted Tuesday evening will add about $4,000 more.

The new scale provides these increases:

Water works superintendent and electrical department superintendent, each, from $325 to $360 a month; chief electrician and his assistant, each, $1.60 to $1.80 an hour; lineman, $1.40 to $1.60 an hour; electrical apprentice, $1.25 to $1.35 an hour; skilled labor, $1.45 to $1.55 an hour; labor $1.15 to $1.25 an hour: clerk of board of affairs, $235 to $245 a month.

Police department, chief, $320 to $355 a month; patrolmen, $280 to $315 a month; special police, $1.30 to $1.40 an hour.

Street department, commissioner $320 to $355 a month; truck driver, $1.40 to $1.50 an hour, skilled labor, $1.25 to $1.35 an hour; semi-skilled labor, $1.10 to $1.20 an hour; labor, $1 to $1.10 an hour; common labor, 85 cents to 95 cents an hour.

Park superintendent and cemetery superintendent, each $275 to $290 a month.

A safety committee will consider further the feasibility of a warning light at the northeast corner of E. Friend and S. Main Sts. for use when the fire department is responding to an alarm. The wires would have to come up Friend St. underground from the alley in the rear.

The annual appropriation ordinance carrying $426,737.70, submitted by Clerk S. Richard at the last meeting, was passed under a suspension of the rules.

Traffic safety on E. Park Ave. was discussed, but there isn't much the municipality can do, as the street is traversed by Route 14. Chief of Police R. G. Millen suggested a caution sign calling attention to the Y. & S. Railway crossing at the foot of the grade on each side.

Mayor Walter Thomas set up a new committee, which he termed a safety committee, to look after hazards. Councilmen Charles Fisher, Arthur Myers and Herbert Souder were appointed to serve.

Damage done by a Midwest Motor Freight Co. truck on E. Park Ave. a couple of weeks ago, when a tree 16 inches in diameter was moved six inches and another tree 10 inches in diameter was leveled in front of the residence of Clarence Wining, 144 E. Park, is being settled by the insurance company. The damaged tree had to be removed, leaving a fire plug unprotected.

Chief R. G. Millen reported receipts of $820.91 by the police department in March, fines and costs, $251.70; meter fines, $43; meter collections, $526.21; arrests 21. Mayor Thomas reported $187.50 additional as the village share in 30 State Highway Patrol cases.

Council will consider, at the next meeting, April 21, the change to fast time the following Sunday, April 26, and will follow the action of Youngstown. Thursday, May 7, will probably be spring clean-up day.

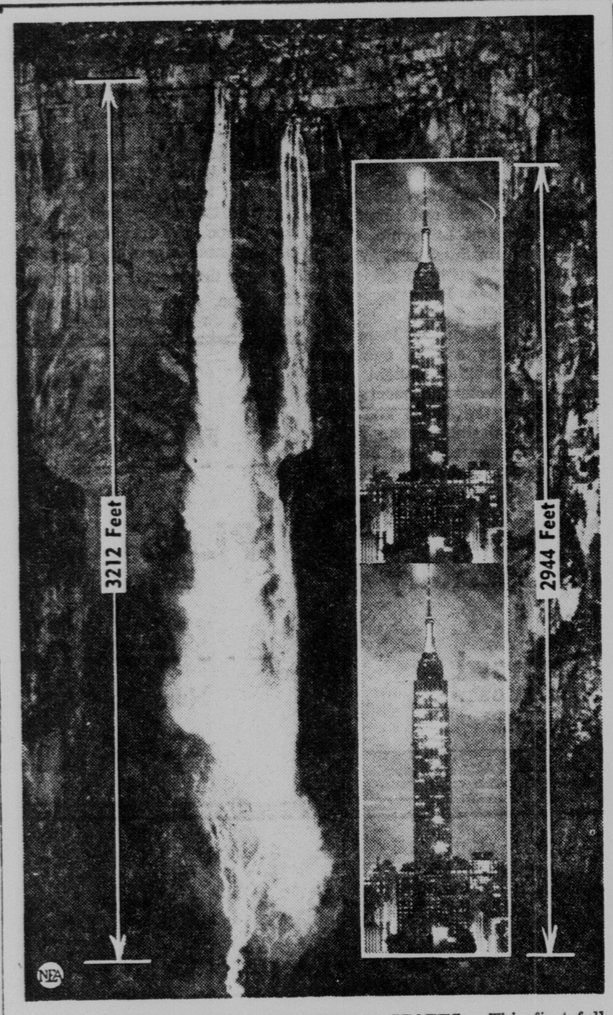

The Columbiana Garden Club, which planted shrubbery around the traffic guide in the middle of the public square, will maintain it. New reflector signs have been ordered for the traffic guide.

Nearly 200 were present at the annual banquet given by the Booster Club in the High School auditorium Tuesday evening for the High School athletes.

Harry Keylor president of the club, presided for the opening of the program following the dinner served by the Parent-Teacher Organization, and presented James Kane, master of ceremonies, who in turn introduced school officials and athletic coaches and presented the speaker, Carroll Widdoes, athletic director at Ohio University, Athens.

The speaker dwelt on the value of high ideals in athletics as a factor in the future lives of athletes. He spoke of Chick McBride and Sam Greiner, Columbiana Students at Ohio U., and of his association with William Newell in O. S. U. athletics.

The fire department was called by a grass fire at 10:15 a.m. Wednesday to the Asher Halverstaft farm on Route 7

FALLS HIGHER THAN TWO EMPIRE STATES — This first full-length picture of Angel Falls in Venezuela shows its full 3212 foot height, 15 times that of Niagara Falls and higher than two Empire State Buildings, right. It was discovered in 1937 by Jimmy Angel, a flyer who crashed on top of the falls. He spent three weeks walking back to civilization from the little-explored Gran Sabana area.

Ohio Legislature Prepares To Chart Highway Program

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Republican-dominated Ohio House of Representatives prepared today to chart a highway program for the next two years.

House "blue-ribbon" Public Affairs Committee met today to assign sub-committees to study two types of highway taxation.

Half the committee, headed by Rep. Samuel L. Devine (R-Franklin), will work over proposed weight-distance taxes. The other half, under direction of Rep. Gordon Renner (R - Hamilton), will study proposed increases in gasoline and license taxes.

The committee completed Wednesday night the hearing of the vast mass of conflicting testimony through which it must sift and come up with bills to meet the state's pressing problem of highway finances.

Rep. Roger Cloud (R-Logan) told the full committee at the end of the hearing: "We must reach a final decision the week after next on highway financing."

That means compromise bills on three types of highway taxation must be worked out in about the next 10 days.

The highway problem generally is conceded to be the top issue before the 10th General Assembly. The Senate is letting the House work out a solution.

The likely highway financing program: A one-cent increase in the present four-cent-a-gallon state gasoline tax; retention of the truck license tax increase voted by the 99th General Assembly; imposition of some special tax on heavy trucks in some form of the weight distance tax—best known as the ton-mile tax.

The likely annual new revenue for highway construction: 40 million dollars.

Highway developments diverted some legislative attention from the still-boiling Senate feud over the 253 million dollar school subsidy bill which the upper chamber's education committee recommended for passage Monday night.

But the pot still boiled under a tight lid clamped on by the Senate leadership. The fight, which once promised to break out on the Senate floor, was taken behind closed doors in a 90-minute Senate Republican caucus. Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem (R-Athens) called it a "peace" meeting and a cooling-off period.

The three Republican Education Committee members who joined with two Democrats to force a pared-down Ohio Education Association bill out of committee were incensed by a statement issued by Chairman Charles A. Mosher (R-Lorain) after the unexpected action.

The three—Sens. Robert Pollock, (Stark), Ross Pepple (Allen) and Oakley Collins (Lawrence) — objected to Mosher's statement that they were puppets on the OEA Loby's string. Next week likely will see some sort of statement from Mosher taking the sting out of his earlier blast.

Opponents of proposed fair employment practices laws appeared Wednesday night before the Industry-Labor Committee of the House. Chairman Horace W. Troop (R-Franklin) said the hearings will wind up next Tuesday.

Five protestant ministers and representatives of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce and the Ohio Manufacturers Association appeared in opposition.

One witness, the Rev. Clement Hershey of Marion, representing the American Council of Christian Churches of Ohio, maintained FEPC could foster "race consciousness."

Both houses of the Legislature had noon sessions scheduled today preparatory to a long week-end recess. The next sessions will be at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday. A Monday recess has been declared to allow legislators to attend the opening baseball game of the Cincinnati Reds.

$500,000 Fire Hits Blanchester

Two Buildings Gutted, Another Is Damaged

BLANCHESTER, O. (AP)—A half-million dollar fire Wednesday night raced through the business section of this Southern Ohio community, destroying two buildings and badly damaging a third

Firemen from five neighboring communities helped fight the flames for two hours before bringing them under control.

No one was injured.

Howard Curless, vice president of the Brown Publishing Co., said damage to the firm was at least $500,000 and might reach $750,000. The company, owned by Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R-Ohio), prints five weekly newspapers, catalogues and magazines. Curless said only the company's records were saved.

Cochrane's garage, an adjoining filling station, also was destroyed. A two-story dwelling near the filling station was badly damaged.

The fire was discovered on the second floor at 11:30 p. m. by a night watchman in the printing plant, a two-story concrete block and brick building which houses doctor's offices and the local Eagles lodge.

As he turned in the alarm the entire second floor collapsed.

Fire departments from Goshen, Lebanon, Loveland, Morrow and Wilmington answered the call for help. Some of them came from as far as 25 miles over rough roads and rugged hills. For a time the entire business section of the town was threatened.

Cause of the fire was not determined. Blanchester firemen said they believed it started in the Eagles' quarters.

It was the second major fire in 21 years for this little town of 1,785. A similar blaze destroyed much of the business section in 1932.

Clarence J. Brown Jr., son of the congressman, said linotypes, color presses and other machinery were ruined. He first estimated damage at a million dollars, but later pared it down.

12-Year Old Mother Gives Birth To Twins

RUSSELLVILLE, Ky. (AP)—It's twin boys for Mrs. Myrtle Brummett, who is "tickled to death" to be a mother at the age of 12.

Her new family—Donald and Ronald, both brunets — arrived Monday at Legan County Hospital. Each tipped the scales at a little more than four pounds. They will be kept in incubators until they gain weight.

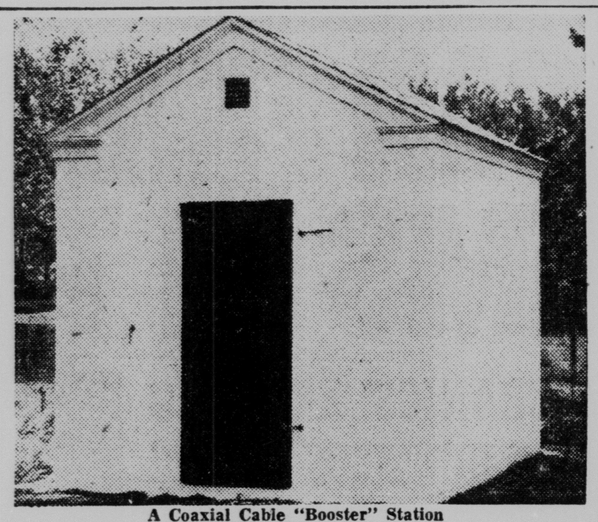

Mrs. Brummett has been staying here with her mother and stepfather since her husband, William, 22, was stationed at an Army post in Maryland.

WANTS NEW BUILDING

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Columbus Mayor Robert T. Oestreicher is asking the Legislature to build a new office building in the city's civic center instead of remodeling the state schools for the blind and dead. Oestreicher says the old buildings should be condemned and the cost of remodeling them would be prohibitive.

DIES IN COLLISION

CLEVELAND (AP) — A two-car collision Wednesday night killed Nicholas K. Mety, 20.

A Coaxial Cable "Booster" Station

Ohio Bell Equipment Speeds Coaxial Cable Transmission

Additional amplifying stations with newly-developed equipment, including three near Canfield, Ellsworth and Rootstown, now being placed across northern Ohio along the Philadelphia-Chicago section of the Bell Telephone System's coaxial cable network, will make it possible to transmit 1,800 long distance messages simultaneously over one pair of coaxial tubes.

If television is being transmitted, a pair of tubes will be able to carry 600 telephone conversations and one television program in each direction at the same time. The new equipment actually triples the previous capacity of the coaxial tubes.

So, although the buildings are small, with just a door and no windows, the equipment they will house will play a vital part in the nation-wide telephone system. Locations of the three new buildings in this area are State Route 46 one mile south of Canfield, U. S. Route 224, one mile west of Ellsworth, and U. S. Route 224, less than two miles east of Deerfield.

The Long Lines Department of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., parent concern of the Bell System, is establishing 34 of the new stations across northern Ohio. These are spotted between the older ones now in service.

Telephone engineers refer to such a station as a "repeater" or "booster." Its function is to pick up the electric impulses, as they progress along a wire or coaxial cable tube, at a point where their strength starts to drop below the level required for good transmission.

Equipment in the station then gives the voice or television impulses a "shot in the arm" sufficient to carry them along to the next station, where the same process is repeated. The newly-developed apparatus requires a station every four miles instead of the eight-mile intervals which applied before.

The Philadelphia - Chicago cable running through this area contains eight tubes, four of which will be served by the new equipment to go into service early next year.

The route extends east from Ellsworth through Canfield and Poland into Pennsylvania to Philadelphia and west by way of Deerfield to Cleveland and Toledo and through Indiana to Chicago.

Man Admits Murder Tale Is Weird Hoax

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O. (AP)—An itinerant jewlery salesman has confessed his weird tale of a double murder was a hoax inspired by a television program and he asked police today to return him to a mental hospital.

Police Chief D. V. Long said he would see that Frederick W. Pope, 27, of Indianapolis got his wish.

Long and Connecticut state Police Detective R. N. Stark finally broke Pope's story after three days of questioning. After the confession Pope sobbed and said:

"I sure messed this one up, didn't I?"

Pope wandered into the Washington Court House police station Monday night and told this story:

He and a companion named "Jack" picked up 10-year-old Constance Smith, who was hitchhiking from a camp at Lakeville, Conn., to her home in Sundance, Wyo. In Arizona "Jack" choked the girl to death and then Pope turned on "Jack" and killed him.

Pope said he got his inspiration from the story a year ago when he was a mental patient at a Waco, Tex., veterans hospital. He said he saw the Smith girl's picture on a missing person poster. The girl disppeared last July.

Two weeks ago, Pope told police, he saw Peter Smith, the girl's rancher father, on the Art Linkletter show. He decided to make up the story after hearing Smith's appeal for help in locating his daughter.

Chief Long said he would contact the Waco VA hospital in an attempt to arrange for Pope's transfer there. He said he would keep Pope in custody until arrangements were made there.

It was the second such escapade for Pope, who peddled costume jewelry. In 1949 he walked into a St. Louis police station and told of murdering a man in California. But Los Angeles police were never able to find a trace of the crime he described and he was eventually released.

King Henry VIII wagered and gave to the French king, Francis I, a rare book of recipes, 100 baskets of apples, and the services of half his staff of cooks for one week, when the latter threw him in a friendly wrestling match on the field of the Cloth of Gold, France, in 1520.

It's Spring And Time To Clean House

"Spring cleaning" sounds such a Victorian term. You may ask: If the house is kept scrupulously clean all the year round, why need there be any extra effort in spring?

There is, however, good reason for this special seasonal cleaning. It is a chance, first of all, to see your home through new eyes — to inquire into the layout you take for granted.

With the change in the weather, the snowshoes and winter woolens, the extra blankets, quilts and bedspreads can be put away until the next cold spell. The fogs and the snow are over, but the dirt they leave behind must be finally cleared away.

First, take stock of the house and decide what repairs and renovations are necessary, working out how much you can tackle yourself.

Begin at the top of the house and work downward, cleaning the least-used rooms first. Leave landings, halls and staircases until after the main rooms, and do the kitchen last of all.

The cleaning and turning out of drawers, cupboards and closets is a good starting point in the bedrooms. Sort out the useless articles from those which might be used again; these latter should be inspected for moth eggs and aired.

Late spring is the time when moths and furniture beetles prepare to lay their eggs in woolen materials and well-seasoned wood.

The moth will never lay eggs (the grubs from which, feeding on the fabric, cause all the damage) in material which is perfectly clean and stored in an airy place. So, before the weather gets really warm, woolens, carpets and upholstery should be washed, dry cleaned or shampooed.

Cothing, bed linen and curtains, once cleaned, should be stored away with moth balls, DDT preparations or in special mothproof containers.

To make carpets mothproof, they should be given a thorough vacuum cleaning, or outdoor beating on both sides They can be shampooed at home, using a special gadget for the purpose, or they can be sponged or brushed with tepid water and either carpet soap or a soapless washing powder.

Work the way of the pile and sponge off the lather with a cloth wrung out in clean, tepid water. Similar treatment can be given to upholstery, only in this case be very sparing with the water.

All kitchen drawers should be scrubbed. All other drawers, the unpolished inside of cupboards, bedsteads and all "hidden" parts of furniture framework should be dusted, brushed and aired, for it is here that the furniture beetle is likely to lay her eggs.

If wormholes do appear in furniture, the article should be removed from the room and treated with a suitable preparation.

Look over your bookcases and remove each book separately, dust it, air the pages and clean out the case thoroughly.

Give all your mattresses a thorough beating. Sweep your walls and ceilings where possible, and wash your tiles.

Rub the paintwork with a warm, soapy cloth. If it is splashed in places — such as above the sink or around a washbasin — and you do not wish the expense of procelain tiles, you can buy inexpensive plastic ones. They can be fixed by a handyman or housewife to any surface.

Neither special tools nor skilled labor is needed; there is cement to mix, the tiles are flexible and easy to cut with scissors, so they can be fitted around curves and into corners.

Another useful job you can do now is to provide yourself with more shelves. Perhaps you need one to hold those books which are lying around, or an extra shelf in the larder — a closed-in one at the back of the door to hold spices, colorings and condiments is a good idea.

A similiar shelf, deeper, of course is useful in the brush cupboard, for polish, dusters and so on.

New life can be given to old furniture, to dingy doors and skirting boards with a few coats of bright enamel paint, but new veneer is an outside job. A good finish can be given by a protective type of furniture cream.

The final stage of the cleaning is the removal of dust from every possible surface, ledge, nook and cranny. Wash and clean your ornaments. Polish the linoleum (a very pleasant polish for this purpose is lavender scented). Take down pictures and mirrors and clean them.

DAIRY STRIKE AVERTED

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland won't have a dairy strike after all. One had been threatened, but Wednesday night the union voted to accept a new working agreement with the mild dealers association. Representatives of Local 336 of the Milk Drivers and Dairy Employes Union, AFL, said terms included a reduced work week of 5½ days from a six day week with no loss in earnings.

Free Loader: Part II

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The most cheerful barnacle on our civilization is the free loader.

He is the happy parasite who labors rarely or never in the vineyard, but is always johnny-on-the-spot to share the other guy's harvest celebration.

This flourishing weed in America's present garden of plenty is guided only by the golden goal—something for nothing.

Free loaders today are found in every community, in every level of society. They come in all ages, shapes, and sizes — and the usual sexes.

These life-on-the-cuff artists are united by three simple beliefs:

1. "This is a free country, isn't it?"

2. "The best things in life are free."

3. "A poor friend is a poor friend indeed."

Everybody is victimized now and then by amateur free loaders (such as relatives), but the natural targets of the true pros are the bored well-to-do and newly-rich, unsure people who need experienced help in getting rid of their cash.

A topflight free loader here in Manhattan can fatten himself by introducing into cafe society a prestige-starved, retired chicken rancher with an appetite for the world of dazzle.

All the chicken rancher has to do is reach for the tabs, "lend" the free loader folding money regularly, and soon he is a big-name in cafe society. In this circle all you need to get ahead is to carry a loaded pocketbook and refrain from picking your teeth in public—at least until after midnight, and then nobody cares what you do.

But a real high-class free loader hates to sponge off an uncouth chicken rancher, because after all he is giving the sucker something back for his dough — recognition.

It is a matter of opinion whether the male or female free loader has it better.

Women are not notoriously quick to put the deep freeze on free loaders of their own sex. They are equally adept at sizing up a man free loader, but they don't mind grubstaking him now and then for the pleasure of his company and the sake of his dark, sensitive eyes. Some of them even perhaps admire as a fellow craftsman a man who is able to wheedle his way through life.

The feminine free loader, of course, has a big edge when it comes to making dupes out of male dopes. Who expects a pretty lady to buy her own drinks or pay for her meals? What well-heeled guy minds a loan to tide her over the first of the month while she waits for the right job that never comes along.

Actually the gal probably doesn't think of herself as free loading. She just calls it a kind of courtship, known by some cynics as the oldest form of free loading.

But a real lady free loader is no golddigger who trades her favors for cash. She is rigorously virtuous. Her motto is still "something for nothing," not "something for something." And any chump with a padded wallet who makes the mistake of marrying one of these dames soon finds that his reward is — exactly nothing, with blonde hair. She regards him as only a lifelong free lunch counter.

Middle-age is the greatest hurdle for the professional free loader. If a balding male one can charm a wealthy lady sucker into buying him a toupe, if a wrinkled feminine one can sweet-talk an addle-headed sugar daddy into staking her to a face-lifting operation—well, brother, that is genius made visible.

Neither will ever have to face the greatest disaster of their trade — honest work. They will successfully free load the rest of their lives, and ride gratis to the cemetery.

(Tomorrow: When a male free loader marries a female one.)

News Photo Awards Are Given Out

"Back From Korea" shows the soldier and his fiancee on a Seattle pier amid a litter of paper cups left behind by troops debarking from the USNS Gen. R. L. Howze.

Miller's entry scored 18 points out of a possible 30 and entitled him to a $100 prize.

Results of the contest were announced yesterday by Norman E Isaacs, president of the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, Inc., which holds the contest yearly.

Judges for the 200-odd entries were J. Edward Murray of the Los Angeles Mirror, Arthur C. Deck of the Salt Lake Tribune and A. H. Lyon of the Bridgeport Post and Telegram.

Other point winners were:

"Overtime Parking" by Earl Seubert, the Minneapolis Tribune—17 points.

"Adlai Bares His Sole" by William M. Gallagher, the Flint Journal—16 points.

"Ahhh Shaddup" by Bob Martin, the Los Angeles Mirror—10 points.

Whiskey Is Downfall Of Woman Kidnaper

MEXICO CITY (AP)—A Mexico City mother has her kidnaped baby back safe today, thanks to the abductor's powerful thirst—and subsequent hangover.

Secret service agents explained it thus:

Several days ago a nurse kidnaped a 13-month-old girl entrusted to her care. She planned to keep the infant, but Wednesday night she got drunk. Yesterday she wanted money to buy more drinks to ease her hangover.

To raise the money, she offered the baby for sale in a local market for 30 pesos ($3.45). Two secret service agents heard of the offer, arrested the nurse and returned the baby to her mother.

COMMISSION LAUDED

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Public Morals Committee of Wilmington Wednesday lauded the Ohio Turnpike Commission's ban of liquor sales along the new turnpike as a safety measure.

"...ounce of prevention"

● Oh, yes, we have the "pound of cure" mentioned in the old proverb. But we'd far rather sell you that "ounce of prevention." So we suggest you go see your Doctor promptly—accept his sound advice—and bring us his prescriptions for competent and careful compounding.
